THE YEAR CROWLEY . . .

1986 — THE YEAR CROWLEY . . .

- Endured: We made our way through the second and possibly most trying year of House Bill 72 school reforms.
- Tested: We suffered through a myriad of examinations such as TABS, TEAMS, ASVAB, CAT, PSAT, SAT, and ACT; not to mention 9-weeks tests and finals. Even teachers were not immune because of the new required teacher competency test, the TECAT.
- Became International: Our horizons were expanded by the addition of four new foreign exchange students from West Germany, Italy, Holland, and Spain.

Shape up or ship out! Barry Thomas jogs his way on stage in the drama department's presentation of "Never Too Late."

School Spirit. Crowley Students hold their salute to the school alma mater during a pep rally.

Wave 'em high. Talonettes, Kristen Tapleshay and Paula Carlisle perform a routine during halftime.

THE YEAR CROWLEY . . .

- Expanded: The total enrollment of students was the highest ever in the history of the school.
- Improved: The varsity football team became a force not to be ignored with a season 5-5 record, the best record since Crowley became a 4A school.
- Mourned: The tragic deaths of Paul Robinson and John Malachi made each student reflect on his own mortality.

This was Crowley's year. We faced it with open minds and hearts and strove to make it the best year ever.

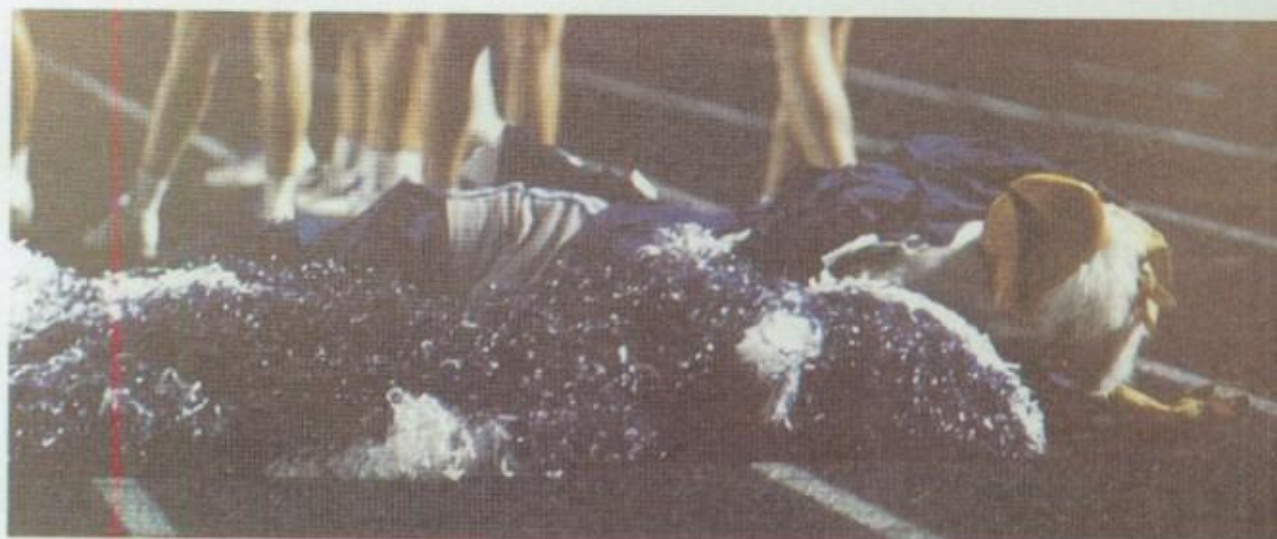

Give me a C-R-O-W-L-E-Y! Theresa Smith, varsity cheerleader, leads the student body in a rousing cheer during a pep rally.

Practicing the Brass. Susie Yerigan, Carrie Cardwell, and David Sanchez rehearse for solo-ensemble contest.

Anticipation. Jason LeSeur and Missy Story, members of the homecoming court, await the big announcement of Homecoming King and Queen.

Let's Go Band! The Mighty Eagle Band contributes to the lively spirit of a pep rally with a rousing march tune.

Laura Lee Gray and Scot McClure crowned queen and king of 1985 CHS Homecoming.

On the spectacular night of September 20, 1985, the lovely Laura Lee Gray and debonair Scot McClure were crowned Homecoming Queen and King by former Queen Irene Dominguez and principal, Mr. Mike Leach.

Both Laura Lee and Scot seemed surprised and delighted to receive the role of king and queen. Both attribute their honors and possessions to the faith they have in the Lord, and feel that honors such as these show his blessings. When asked how she felt upon being crowned, Laura Lee replied, "I was very happy and felt honored, surprised and just had a real good feeling inside."

Rallies rile rivalry among ranks

Spurred by three consecutive wins, the pep rallies at the beginning of the year were very spirited; however, after the loss to Brownwood, followed by more losses, spirit dwindled to nothing more than mere competition between classes.

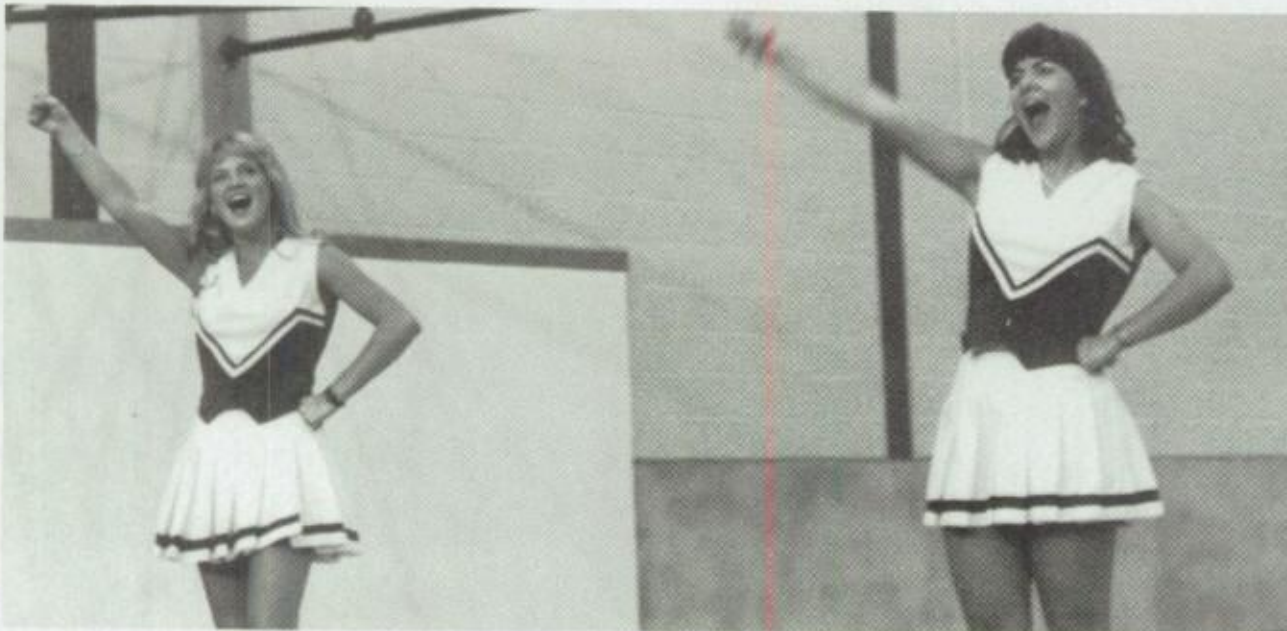

Led by Mr. Mike Leach, Ms. Kay Newberry, Mr. Dick Stringfellow, and Mr. Gerald Jack, the E-A-G-L-E spellout definitely created the most noise of any spirit-raising activity. The skits performed by the speech and the drama classes provided comedy relief during some of the pep rallies.

The varsity and the J.V. cheerleaders performed many daring acrobatic stunts while spectators watched with bated breath.

To the accompaniment of the Mighty Eagle Band, the enlarged flag corps and the brand new rifle corps performed gracefully.

Cited by many as the highlight of the pep rallies, this year's Talonettes spread their beat throughout the crowd. The tight, compact, nineteen-member-drill team thrilled the stands with routines to "Jungle Love", "California Girls", "The Bird", and other songs. Senior football player Blake Beck said, "The pep rallies helped me to prepare for football games. The cheers of the crowd assured me that the student body was behind me one hundred percent."

Give me an E! Principal, Mr. Mike Leach, explains to the crowd the importance of the E-A-G-L-E spellout.

Spirit! Let's hear it! Varsity cheerleaders, Shari Skiles and Connie Haynie, yell their loudest.

A tough act to follow! Senior mascot Shelly Baldwin romps through the gym amazing the crowd.

Slapstick at its best. Sophomore Marc McNally gets a pie in the face from junior Lee Gargis for promoting the Brownwood Lions.

Eagles are best! Senior Lorraine Echols displays an enthused attitude as the pep rally ends.

Me! No, me! Juniors Pat Hurd, Todd Royal, and Chris Carr exude the confidence of spirited professionals.

Practice makes perfect. Flag corps members Kerry Vandeventer, Stephanie Lopez, and Shelley Pipes concentrate on their next step to their unified routine.

Posing for the camera. Sophomores Tommy Brakel, Todd Stegall, Kevin Brewton, and Shawn Sharp get rowdy for a great pep rally shot!

RANDOM

CHIC PLASTIQUE SWATCHES

One of this year's most popular fashion items was the Swatch. These plastic, battery-powered Swiss watches retailed for 30 dollars, and so were an affordable alternative to the traditional wrist watch. Swatches came in many different styles, from basic conservative black to more colorful and flashy designs such as plaid, paisley, and polka-dots. Some were even adorned with flags of different countries instead of numbers. Besides watches, Swatch Watch also offered Swatch paraphernalia such as sweat-shirts, umbrellas, razors, and sunglasses.

One of the strongest fads of 1986 was Coca-Cola clothes. Pictured to the right are sophomores Mari Jensen and Shannon Kuykendall. It was much to the students' pleasure when the Coca-Cola company designed clothes including sweatshirts, jeans, and T-shirts advertising their label. Coke Is It!

NOTES

BODY SLAMS AND CHOKE HOLDS

Professional wrestling received a revival this year among high school students and gained many new fans from previously scoffing teens. This revival was due mainly to the popularization of national wrestling personalities such as Hulk Hogan and "Rowdy" Roddy Piper through the "Rock Wrestling Connection" featured on MTV and other special TV events. More popular in this area, however, were local wrestling stars who had been popular to a degree for many years. Some of these were the VonEric's, Chris Adams, and the Iceman.

Senior Chris Fowler, yearbook editor, is adorned with many fashionable items. Chris dons a button-down plaid shirt underneath a pale yellow shaker sweater. Striding with pride, Chris wears the ever popular topsiders. To make his outfit complete, Chris sports a preppy plaid scarf.

DRESS ME UP

When the Halloween enigma came lurking around the corner, students at Crowley High School were ready and waiting. Enthusiastic and provisional several weeks in advance, they were armed and ready to do battle with the forces of spiritual insecurity, educational reform burnout, and fashion-oriented boredom. When requested by the Student Council to shield themselves from the haunting reality of being caught alive in their mortal guises, the student body retaliated in whole by fiercely masquerading the halls, from the conventional demons, skiing victims, soda-guzzling babies to benevolent gremlins, and pimple-faced nerds, and leather-clad head-bangers. As Halloween came to an end, students were forced back to the abrupt reality of thinking, studying, and everyday life.

GI Joe goes Hawaiian. Junior Jim O'Brien and senior Gerardo Garcia seem at odds with one another on Halloween, when Jim dressed up as Gerardo.

Late for class, sisters? Two stand-ins for Sally Field as the flying nun, Lorrie Lee and Carrie Taylor, take a stroll through Crowley High's sacred halls.

Freddy's back! Mrs. Nancy Massengale, Mrs. Carole Poynter, Ms. Barbara Crowley, Ms. Peggy Duvall, and Mrs. Jimmie McGary are the innocent young ladies posing for a team picture. Unknown to the other girls, Ms. Crowley has become the latest victim of Freddy (Mrs. Sylvia Lucas).

"Oh Kermie, toi are mine!" Shelly Baldwin as Piggy and Kim Stephens as Kermit, put on a public display of affection in Mrs. Shackelford's trigonometry class.

Christmas is a time to say, "I love you." Fond holiday wishes are extended to all by sophomores Gayle Teeter, Shelly Shultz, Amy Smith, and Lisa Gray sitting around the frosted Christmas tree.

'Tis the season to be jolly. Seniors Ronda Phillips and Leasa Patterson model the faddish sweatshirts that became so popular in 1985.

Feed the World. It's only the beginning of a canned-good collection, donated by Crowley High School to the North Texas Food Bank. Incidentally, Crowley donated the greatest amount of canned goods anywhere in the entire Metroplex.

"And she (Laura Lee Gray) danced like a wave on the ocean" at one of the first dances of the year.

Christie Heinrich laughs as Rae Barrington and friend suggest she ask a guy to dance.

Surprise!! This is the robot dance demonstrated by Jacob Lemke.

"Crowley ain't much for breakin', but I sure know what's shakin' " agrees senior Alicia MacDonald.

All Michelle Bledsoe wants to do is dance.

Brian Wenberg is jammin' in his wild jams, a new fashion among students.

Local D.J. takes an awe to the group of girls dancing in front of him.

Eric Marr is slow dancing, just him and his girl, Simona Floria.

MOVING WITH THE BEAT

THE YEAR CROWLEY DANCED

The motivated students of Crowley High rocked their way through a year of excitement and fun-filled festivities. Music, fads, and styles all change with time, but students can always count on social activities, such as dances, to be together and have a great time. Foreign exchange students quickly got into the groove of things. The students, staff, and halls of Crowley High accepted and greeted these special students and have made it where they fit in everywhere. All in all, the 1985-86 dances were a terrific success and gave everyone a little R and R and a tremendous amount of fun.

Top: Kim Caraway and Huetie Merrill "strut" their stuff.

Bottom: For exchange student Karina Wiering, it was dancing until dawn and partying all night long.

"Never Too Late" arrives early to brighten holiday spirits

The drama department put on Summer Arthur Long's "Never Too Late" on December 5, 6, and 7. "I was surprised how well the cast pulled themselves together in what seemed like the last minute," said Ms. Kay Newberry, director. There were two separate casts and from the two an all-star cast was chosen by three secret judges.

However, there is another cast that the audience did not have a chance to see. It is the production staff made up of Kay Newberry, Jim Mitchell, Jennifer

RANCH DAY

Making it the third year in a row, the senior class took the cake in Ranch Day activities. Some activities in Ranch Day competition were the egg toss, the obstacle course, the spoon relay, the shoe race, and the sloppy root beer guzzle. Though competition was tough, Ranch Day was a fun day for all.

Sophomores Jennifer Brown and Jason Whisonant compete for first place in the egg toss.

Barely visible to the eye, senior Debbie Mahan is slung around the gym by senior Greg Clark.

Junior John Gardner tries to achieve his goal of getting on two opposite shoes as fast as he can.

Sophomore Jason Whisonant carefully catches the raw egg in the egg toss competition.

Running as fast as she can, sophomore Lori Turner tries to reach the pile of shoes.

More money to shell out for prom pictures doesn't hamper the elegant style displayed by senior Barry Thomas and date Paula Carlisle.

Amid flashing cameras, junior Jeff Gunn and date Shelly Adcock, escorted by Todd Steagal, complete the grand march and enter the Amfac ballroom to attend their first prom.

"It was really fun, but it was a lot of hard work. We started setting up at 12:00 and finished around 3:00 p.m. Overall, it was a great experience, and I had a blast," said sophomore escort, Julie Skiles.

The months, the anxious weeks, all the preparation for what seemed like just a moment of glory. The 1985-86 Junior-Senior Prom proved to be a classy and elegant success. "Being a junior and never having been to prom, I really did not know what to expect, but the friendly atmosphere made it easy. I especially enjoyed the grand march," said junior Preshi Kendall. Senior sponsor and prom coordinator, Mrs. Debra Hartman said, "We took the mistakes from the previous year and hammered out the problems so it was more organized. It took a lot of hard work and time. This prom will be a hard act to follow."

Looking dapper and acting classier than anyone could dream possible, senior Vernon Jones and junior Chris Hargrove push their darling dates out of the camera's view.

Seniors Wes Mahan, Darryl Akers, and Dennis Russell pose for the camera before making their entrance to their final prom.

Junior class officers Nikki Hudson, Laurie Ellis, Jim O'Brien, and Connie Haynie wait to read the junior prophesies while senior class officers Scot McClure, Shari Skiles, Barry Thomas, and Rick Daniel read the senior wills.

Enjoying an exciting game of frisbee, is Senior David Rogers.

Caught in the act. Senior Tony Pletcher is singlehandedly apprehended by a ranch hand while waiting in line to get his barbecue.

Just teasing. Senior Tony Pletcher expresses his desire to acquire another kind of drink.

Senior Trip

Although plagued by a low attendance (less than 100 seniors went), this year's senior trip was a resounding success. Senior sponsor Mr. Bob Burger said, "This was the best senior trip I have ever been on." "Everything was great," expounded Chris Fowler, "except the country band left a little to be desired." Fun was had by all, however, and each person was left tired and eager to be home.

Senior David Jackson jumps high in the air off the trampoline as senior Angie Houston stands at the edge watching.

After some fun in the sun, the seniors pose for picture while standing in line for their dinner.

GRADUATION

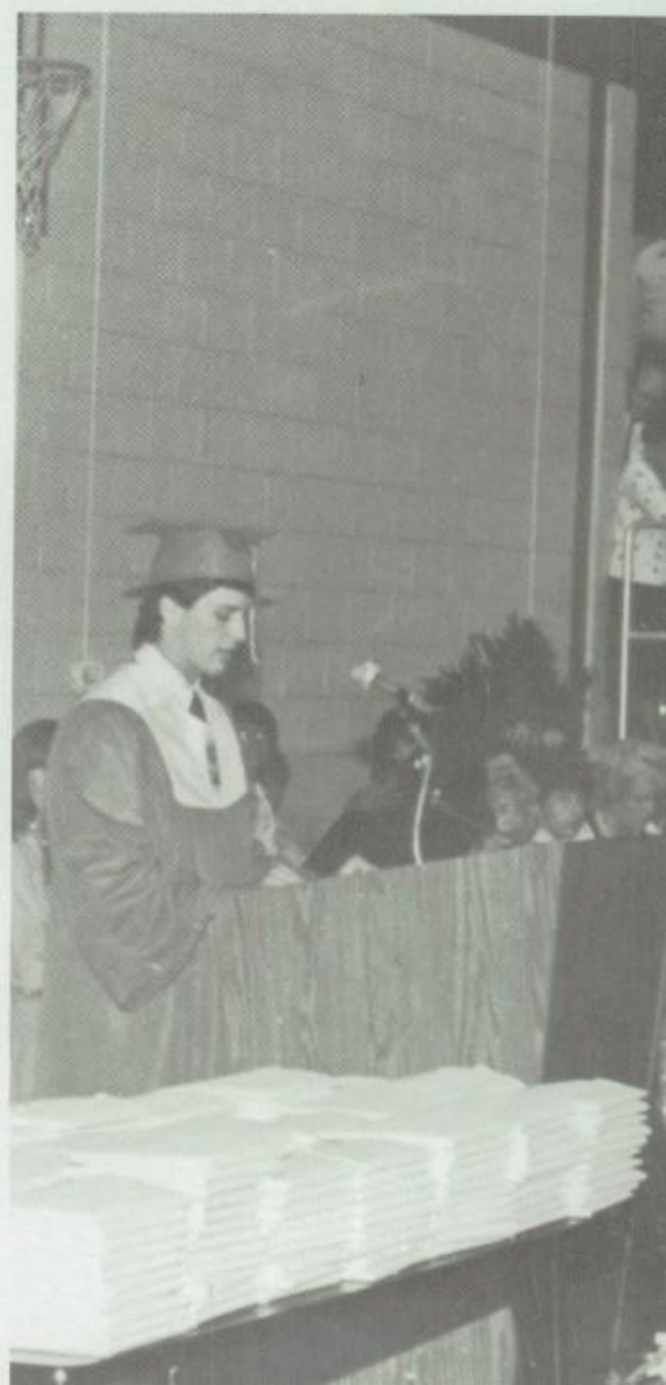

Wary of weather, school officials moved the graduation ceremonies into the new gym. Some 221 veterans of public education met for their last time as a unit on May 30 in front of two to three times their number in well wishers. Before their grand entrance, senior sponsors were on hand to straighten caps and gowns, settle the jitters, and take up marbles. Miss Jackie Carden, retiring principal of Bess Race elementary, received a special award from a senior class that was half "Carden's kids." Other speeches included the valedictorian and salutatorian speeches by Amy Mize and Sharon Pair respectively, appreciation to teachers by Angie Minhinnette and a well-received and humorous appreciation speech dedicated to parents by Rick Daniel.

Seniors link their pinkies one last time for the alma mater, possibly the emotional high (low) point for most members of the largest graduating class of Crowley.

Proud parents abound at graduation and Dalane Miller-Dominguez's are no exception. School secretary and parent of a second senior in a row to graduate, Mrs. Deanna Daniel, expresses the emotions of most parents when she said, "My feelings are so mixed. One minute you're happy for them and yourself, then, you're sad the next minute."

Senior Rick Daniel breaks up an otherwise somber crowd with his appreciation to parents speech. "Thanks Dad," he said at one point, "for keeping Mom calm when she saw the house and empty refrigerator after some of the parties."

Greg Clark, who will continue his education on a football scholarship at Texas Christian University gets a congratulatory hug from Wendy Hayes.

A big bear hug for big brother Barry. Others having mixed emotions include youngsters like Matthew Thomas, who will watch his brother, Barry go off to Colorado School of Mines. Matthew gets a double whammy as brother Mark Thomas will graduate next year. Most siblings may gain their own room or more attention from mom and dad, but they'll lose a friend and sparring partner as well.

Caps fly high as the class of 1986 realizes the year of glory has come to an end and the world at large awaits the class and all its potential.

This is it. April Pedroza's father gives her a reassuring arm after the close of graduating ceremonies.

We're Number "Won!"

The 1985-86 Mighty Eagle Band, composed of mighty talented students, concluded a year full of fun as well as achievements. Among other awards, the band maintained their Sweepstakes Award by achieving a one in sight reading, concert, and marching. After several successful fund raisers, the band entered competition in Florida at Disney World where they enjoyed three days of sheer pleasure touring Epcot Center and Fantasy World.

(Far right) Mr. Ed Martinez, band director, talks to an enthused patron on the telephone as Mrs. Betty Cornish, assistant band director, ponders the paperwork.

(Right) Senior Carl Kling, 1985-86 drum major, leads the band in an exciting halftime performance.

The Mighty Eagle Marching Band stands straight and glows with pride as fans applaud their exceptional talent displayed during football season.

The contest in Florida took place at Apopka High School, in Apopka, Florida. Stage band got a rating of two and second best overall. Symphonic band led the pack with a rating of one and best overall band. Junior Lori Garner said, "Mr. Martinez was full of encouragement in preparing us for competition. He gave us an extra edge over the competitors by making us practice every morning at 8:00 a.m."

Senior Eddie McGonigle and freshman Roy New give it their all as crowds listen in awe at their talented saxophone sounds.

Spirit kickers add excitement to half-time

"There is so much more to being a Talonette than just dancing at the football games and pep rallies," said senior Talonette Debbie Mahan, a three-year veteran of the squad. Girls who make the team must also make the grades (passing that is), not to mention the numerous hours of hard work to learn and perfect routines.

This year's Talonette squad, made up of nineteen girls, quite smaller than last year's group, did a good job of these and more. As Mrs. Denise Powell, director of the Talonettes, said, "A smaller group tends to make it easier to provide necessary individual help with routines to bring it to perfection." One senior squad member was asked which routines she enjoyed the most and why, she answered "'Jungle Love' because it always got the crowd to clap and into the beat of the music."

The Talonettes went to the New Orleans "Mardi Gras" Competition January 31-February 2. They also hope to be going to the Dallas Mavericks' Competition on January 11, where the top three teams get to perform at the half-time of a Mavericks' game. But most of all, they hope to attend the Miss Texas Drill Team Pageant.

Senior Anna Sanchez, juniors Laurie Ellis, Wendy Stricklin, sophomores Kate Yelverton, Pam Trammel, Julie Skiles, and Danielle Mills show their spirit during a pep rally to "Strut."

"Are you qualified? If you aren't, I don't wanna see you no more," Talonette seniors Angie Minhinnette, Kim Kendrix, Anna Sanchez, and junior Wendy Strickland wrap up battle plans for their rendition of "The Bird" for the homecoming pep rally.

With ultimate effort and concentration, senior Debbie Mahan "gets down" in a special performance for the Homecoming pep rally. "She was the best to me, she could really swing it. I don't care if she is my sister," says senior Wes Mahan.

Senior Michele Tucker, manager of the Talonettes, gets caught in the act of decorating lockers to boost the morale of the Eagle football team.

One early Friday morning around 7:30 A.M. junior Tracy Duncan and other Talonettes take time out to creatively decorate the otherwise drab lockers of the Eagle football team.

SHOUT! SHOUT! LET IT ALL OUT!

The Crowley High School cheerleaders' eagerness to promote spirit proved successful in 1985-1986. The cheerleaders spent a week out of their busy summer to attend camp. The varsity squad attended camp in San Marcos, Texas, while the junior varsity squad went to camp at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. Besides cheering at all football games and other sports events, the cheerleaders promoted spirit by making buster posters, decorating the lockers of athletes, riding in parades, and they even performed at Mayfest. Resulting from an enlarged varsity squad of ten and a junior varsity squad of eight, the 1985-1986 squads proved ever more spirited.

Sophomore cheerleader Kate Yelverton, obviously fatigued from her demanding job as cheerleader, tries to listen attentively to her instructions regarding the next cheer.

Wild & Crazy Mascot Ends Two-Year Reign

Shelly Baldwin, the Eagle mascot for Crowley High School, concluded a very successful reign this year. During Shelly's junior and senior year, she proved herself a dedicated as well as comical mascot.

"I've enjoyed being the mascot very much," Shelly said, "It let the 'real me' come through! I think it's the only thing I'll really miss."

Shelly plans to major in special education at either Texas Christian University or Texas Women's University in Denton. Shelly added, "If I go to TCU, I would love to be the frog!"

Shelly offered some words of wisdom for her successor as the Eagle. "The thing that makes the mascot work is giving it it's own personality. Make him wild, crazy, and full of life. The most important thing, however, is never making it obvious that there is a person inside those feathers. The Eagle doesn't ever say a word, thus pantomime is imperative."

Students of today, leaders of tomorrow...

This year's Student Council sponsored the district workshop giving schools a chance to share ideas with one another. District offices were also voted on at the meeting. "It was extremely successful. Attendance was 326 from schools in the Dallas-Fort Worth area," said Mrs. Kay Franklin, sponsor of Student Council.

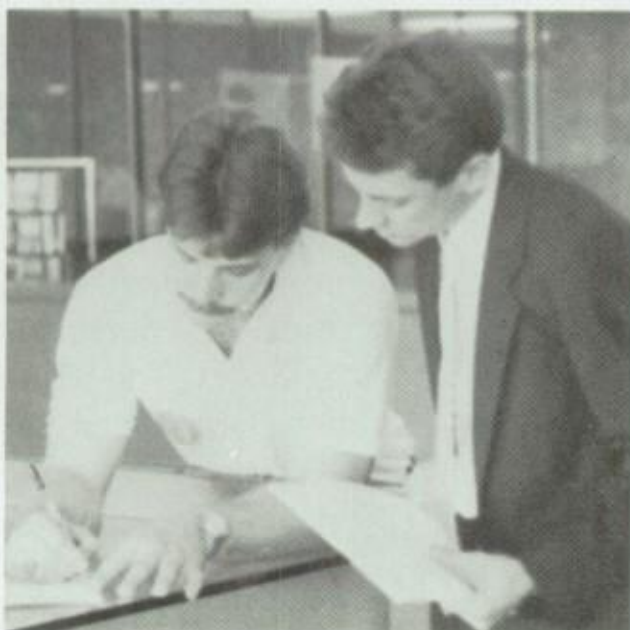

The Student Council was led by Barry Thomas, president; Gerardo Garcia, vice president; Huette Merrell, secretary; Scot McClure, treasurer; Helen Sulak, parliamentarian; and Lisa Gray, historian.

"This group of young men and young ladies are marvelous to work with and I feel they are an asset to Crowley," answered Mrs. Franklin when asked how she felt the Student Council did.

Leslie Clark, Nikki Daniels, Brook Holt, and Helen Sulak gather goodie bags to be distributed to participating Student Council members from area schools.

"Da-Da-Diddie-Diddie" is the song. Performing the motions are JoAnn Brawner, Nikki Daniels, and Scot McClure.

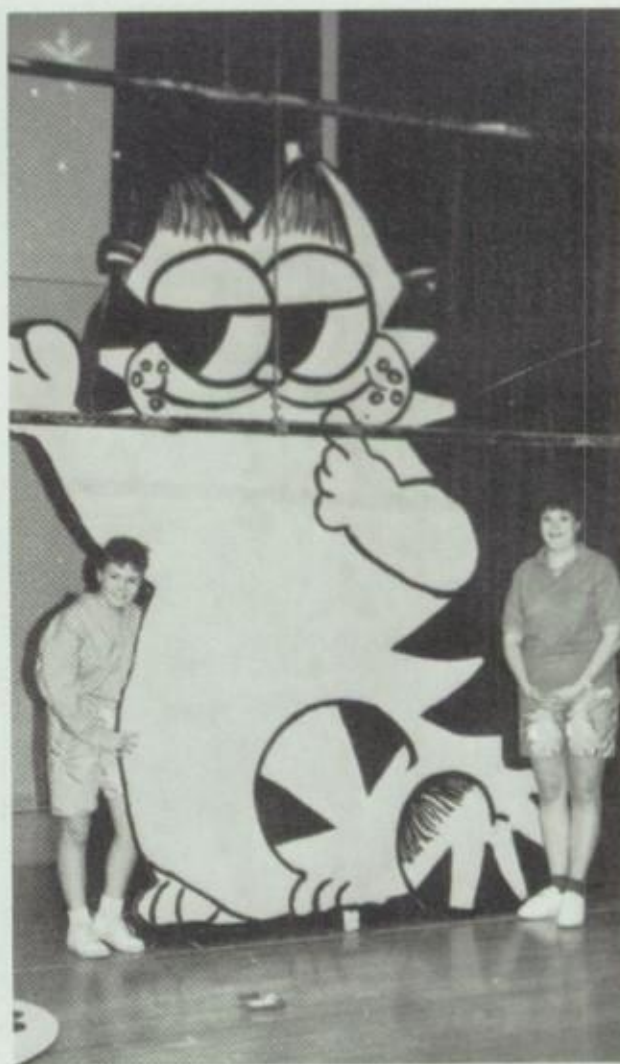

President Barry Thomas talks to the Regional President of Student Council from Denton High School about the convention.

Members of the Student Council listen to Helen Sulak before going to their designated places for the convention held at Crowley High School.

Nikki Daniels and Leslee Clark couldn't pass up a chance for a picture with Garfield, mascot of the convention.

Jim O'Brien, Leslee Clark, JoAnn Brawner, and Randa Carter await the arrival of other Student Council members participating in the convention.

Jim O'Brien, Leslee Clark, and Sonia Jimenez laugh hysterically while going through the motions to "Da-Da-Diddie-Diddie," a game song.

National Honor Society

The basic requirements for National Honor Society were a grade-point average of 85 or above, and no class taken under grade level. However, it was also based on the students' leadership, character, and service, not to mention scholastic achievements. Before being inducted into N.H.S., the students were voted on by all teachers in all aspects of a N.H.S. student. The students of N.H.S.

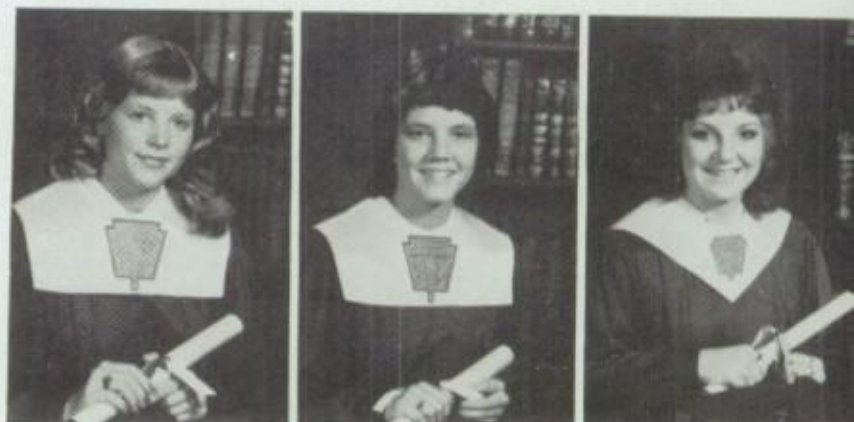

participated in a number of things throughout the year. This year they helped with the Special Olympics, went Christmas caroling, and produced the Honors Day program held in May.

Senior Barry Thomas congratulates his younger brother, Mark Thomas, and Jimmy Lyday, Tony Pletcher and Sonia Jiminez, new N.H.S. inductees.

FTA/Spanish

Future Teachers of America had great fun putting together their activities this year, such as flower sales during Valentine's and attending the state convention in Dallas. Their year ended with the presentation of "Teacher of the Year" award at the Awards Day Assembly held on May 16.

Michele Tucker, president; Dee Richardson, secretary; and Jennifer LeSeuer stop to be enchanted by a suave doorman at the Hyatt while attending the state FTA convention.

Mrs. Marilyn Wood said, "I learned so much about FTA as an organization during my first year as sponsor. I'm proud to be associated with our state organization and the girls in our local chapter."

The theme for the 1986 Texas FTA convention sprawls across the stage as state officer candidates prepare to give their campaign speeches.

Nikki Daniels, Melinda Harris, and Kara Hallan eat until they can't eat any more during the Chili Cookoff, which was judged by such connoisseurs of chili as señor Soriano, señorita Crowley, and señora Bumpus.

With over 100 members, the 1985-86 "Club de Español" was able to participate in a variety of activities. Highlights included a Chili Cookoff, dinner at Jiminez Mexican Restaurant, and poster parties. Flower-making sessions were held in preparation for the Spring Fling Dance, sponsored by the club. Mrs. Marie Croft, the Spanish Club sponsor said, "With the dedication of officers and hard-working members, we have had un año fantastico!"

HEROs of FHA

Future Homemakers of America were involved in many different activities this year. They conducted a fund-raising drive, gave a Halloween party for faculty children, sponsored the Great American Smoke-out, and carried out publicity for National FHA/HERO week. FHA also started programs in the classroom on SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving), Families and Futures. Besides the activities, they participated in Region II and State Leadership meetings. Sharon Pair was Region II president and in charge of the meeting.

Senior Helen Sulak presents an honorary membership to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sulak, and adviser, Mrs. Gail Bumpus, at the Region II meeting in San Angelo.

Ben Godfrey, Kathi Scott, and Addie Bober put up a sign while decorating the FHA hall during homecoming week festivities.

Karina Wiering and Kim Randolph do their part in preparing for the National FHA week by painting on the sign that was posted in the front of the school.

Sold by FHA members, Kathi Scott, Helen Sulak and Tracy Maddux, sort out packages of bluebonnet seeds that will go to proud Texas citizens during Texas Sesquicentennial.

The year Crowley's stars shine

Thespian means "actor." It comes from a Greek chorus member who stepped away from the chorus to speak his own independent lines, thus becoming the first "star of the stage." To become a member of Thespians, students earned at least ten points from acting in plays and also working in the oft times unglorified background. The group held two banquets per year — one at Christmas and the other at the end of the year to hand out individual awards to members. "It is an honor that inspires you to be more involved in drama," answered junior Jennifer deLeeus, when asked what Thespians was all about.

Laura Lee Gray, senior, and Ms. Kay Newberry discuss the next event of the night at the end of the year banquet held at Colonial Cafeteria in Fort Worth.

Lisa Gray, Barry Thomas, Rachel Graves, Kerry VanDeventer, Jim O'Brien and Wendy Kelly await their turn to be announced as part of Thespians.

Mike Alford, Tammy Richardson, her mother, and Kristin Tapleshay make conversation among themselves while waiting for the banquet to begin.

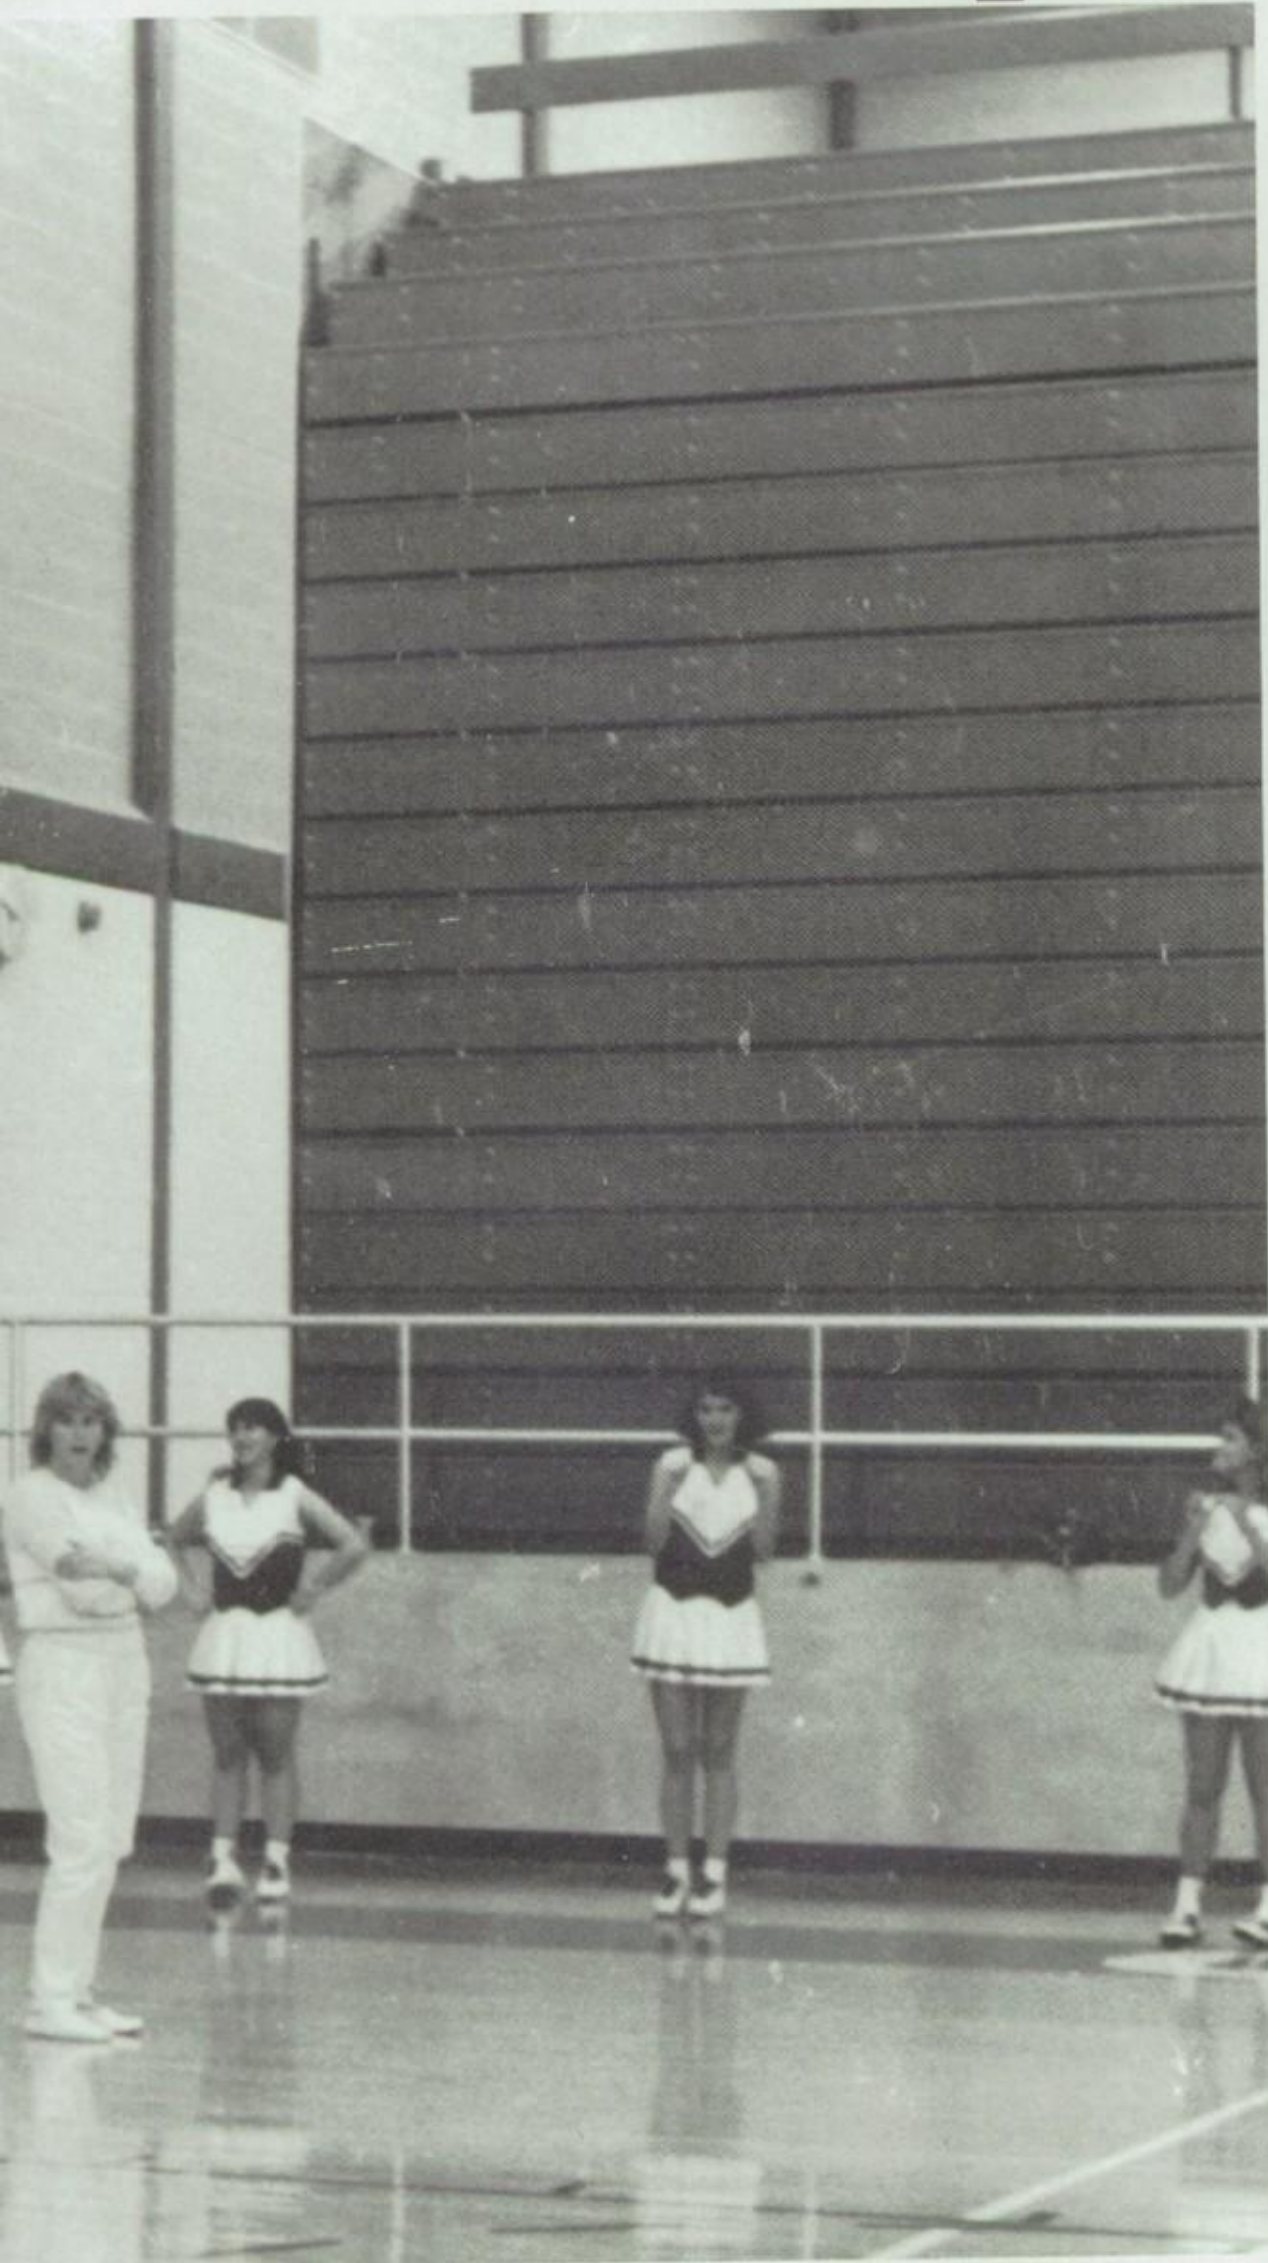

Ms. Kay Newberry, sponsor of Thespians, announces the new members of the Thespian club.

Way To Go Eagles!

Eagles Charge Ahead With Their Best Season In Seven Years.

The mighty Eagle had a great season this year. The 5-5 Eagles had great players this year who really worked well together. Injuries hurt the team, but they never gave up. A very big win this year was the homecoming game against Aledo. The Eagles beat the Bearcats 33-0.

Next years' team will be a much improved team with juniors and sophomores coming up. The junior varsity team ended with an incredible 7-3 record.

This year's varsity teams All District Members are: 1st Team All District — Rick Daniel, Greg Clark, Daniel Hargrave, and Barry Thomas. 2nd Team District — Robert Boot. Honorable Mention All District — Charles Fisher, and Richie Gatewood.

Against the tide. Senior Charles Fisher guards the scrimmage line against the oncoming Lions as junior Mark Thomas punts the ball. Brownwood won, 15 to 9.

Quick getaway . . . almost. A pack of Aledo Bearcats circles junior Jeff Gunn and drives him to the turf in the 33-0 homecoming win for Crowley.

JV Gets Third in District

The Junior Varsity football team played its best this year, and it showed. They won big in some games, and when they lost, they didn't lose by a big margin.

The team was made up of a mixture of sophomores and juniors. The sophomores had a good freshman year, and the juniors added the extra strength they needed to make this year one of their best.

Next year, most of the sophomores will move up with the juniors to the varsity. This move will be a big help to the varsity team, and they will be a force to be reckoned with.

Hard Times

Freshmen Try Hard, Fall Short

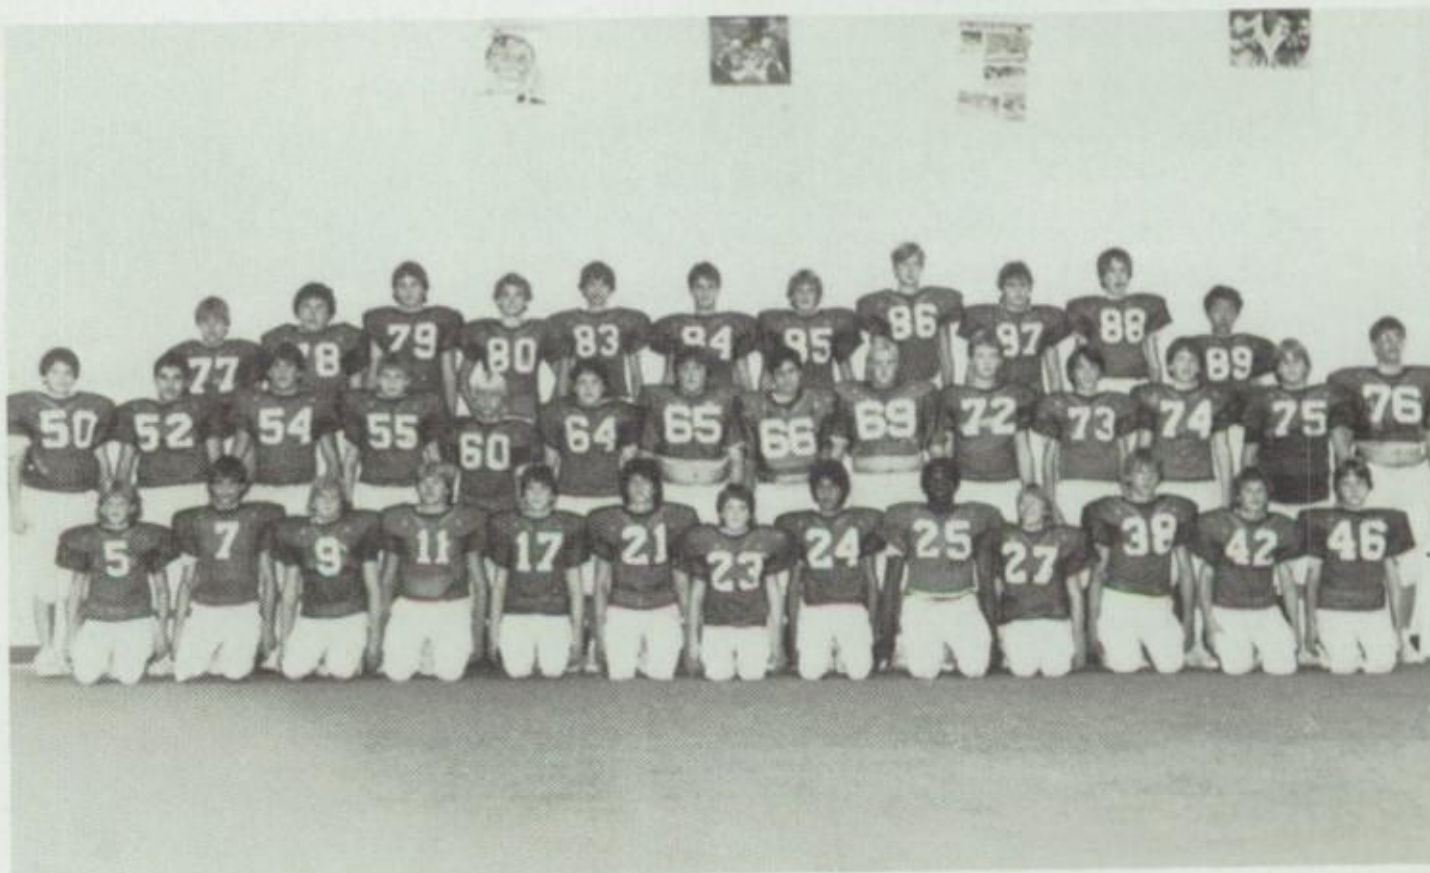

This year's freshman team tried hard to be one of the best teams in the area, but couldn't manage to handle the dominating teams in their district. The 0-9 Eagles showed poise near the end of the season with the defense holding teams to only a few points per game. The offense had a good year with Andre Gandy at running back and Jason Godwin at quarterback.

"Next year the freshman team should be a little better, and should put some marks in the win column," said freshman Coach Gary graves.

Months before we even thought about coming to school, the varsity team was practicing every day — sometimes twice a day. When watching them play it was obvious they not only wanted to win but they wanted to do something no other volleyball team has ever done. The varsity team finished with a 5-1 season. They won district, becoming the second team to achieve that honor for Crowley in the last three years.

"From the very first day of our two-a-day practices, I knew we had the potential to be the best in our district. Every day in workouts my teammates and I seemed to pull closer and closer towards one goal of winning. We were not simply individuals playing a game; we were a family that not only wanted to give pride in ourselves, but to our school," said Keli Bruton, senior volleyball player.

The Crowley Eagle Varsity Volleyball team, led by Kim Reynolds, gains momentum before a game with Mansfield. The Lady Eagles won with the score of 15-0; 15-7; 15-8.

"There really are not any stars on our team. We are all good players, and we have a great coach," says Senior Lisa Sheldon.

Faster than the speed of light! Keli Bruton slaps the ball with tremendous force, well over the reach of her opponents.

I'm gonna do it!

Kelly Giles sets the ball for Keli Bruton in the game against Everman, which was won by the MIGHTY EAGLES.

Charlotte Jones shows skill and grace while serving the ball, as linesperson Traci Glisson looks on. Varsity cheerleaders also showed up to support the Lady Eagles during their winning season.

They spiked their way to the top

For Crowley's junior varsity volleyball team this year hard work coupled with the pain to gain really paid off. The girls finished with a 13-11 season. "Setting goals was the best thing for us," said junior team member Preshie Kendall. Indeed setting reachable goals can encourage team members to meet those ambitions and achieve the success that makes most feel better than the rest.

The Eagle crowd, on the edge of their seats, waits anxiously for the end of the game and a hometown victory.

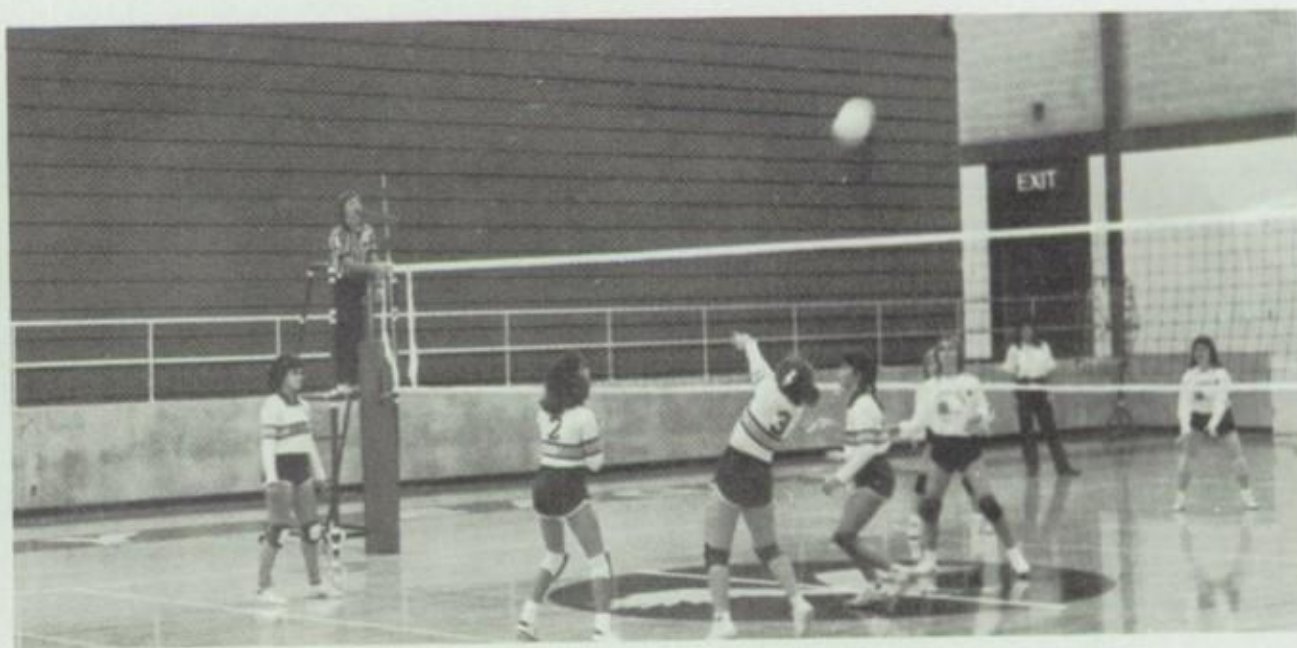

Freshmen held spirit throughout the year

Perhaps just getting their feet wet proved to be enough of a challenge for the freshmen girls volleyball team this year. They played hard, learned enough to carry them over to the j.v. team next year, and ended the season with a 6-7 record. "It was really exciting playing volleyball for Ms. Elam, I think we really improved through the whole year," said D'Lisa Szedeli.

Poised in motion, Tawnya Brooks, prepares to serve to the Mansfield volleyball team.

Tawnya Brooks does an excellent job passing over a free ball during the Mansfield game.

Over the Hills . . .

This year's boys' varsity and junior varsity cross country teams had a fine season which ended in perfect form. The junior varsity finished the season and gained the title of district champs. Coming in behind Mansfield, the varsity took second in district competition. With such a fine season, perhaps the junior varsity will help the remaining varsity members beat Mansfield and the rest of the district teams to capture a district varsity championship for 1987.

A little dazed after a long run, senior Shelley Baldwin almost makes an embarrassing mistake.

This year's girls' varsity and junior varsity teams ran past the competition from start to finish of the season. The junior varsity finished tops in district by pounding some tough competition. When they join the varsity next year, they may prove themselves tough competition for the district title.

Varsity boys are

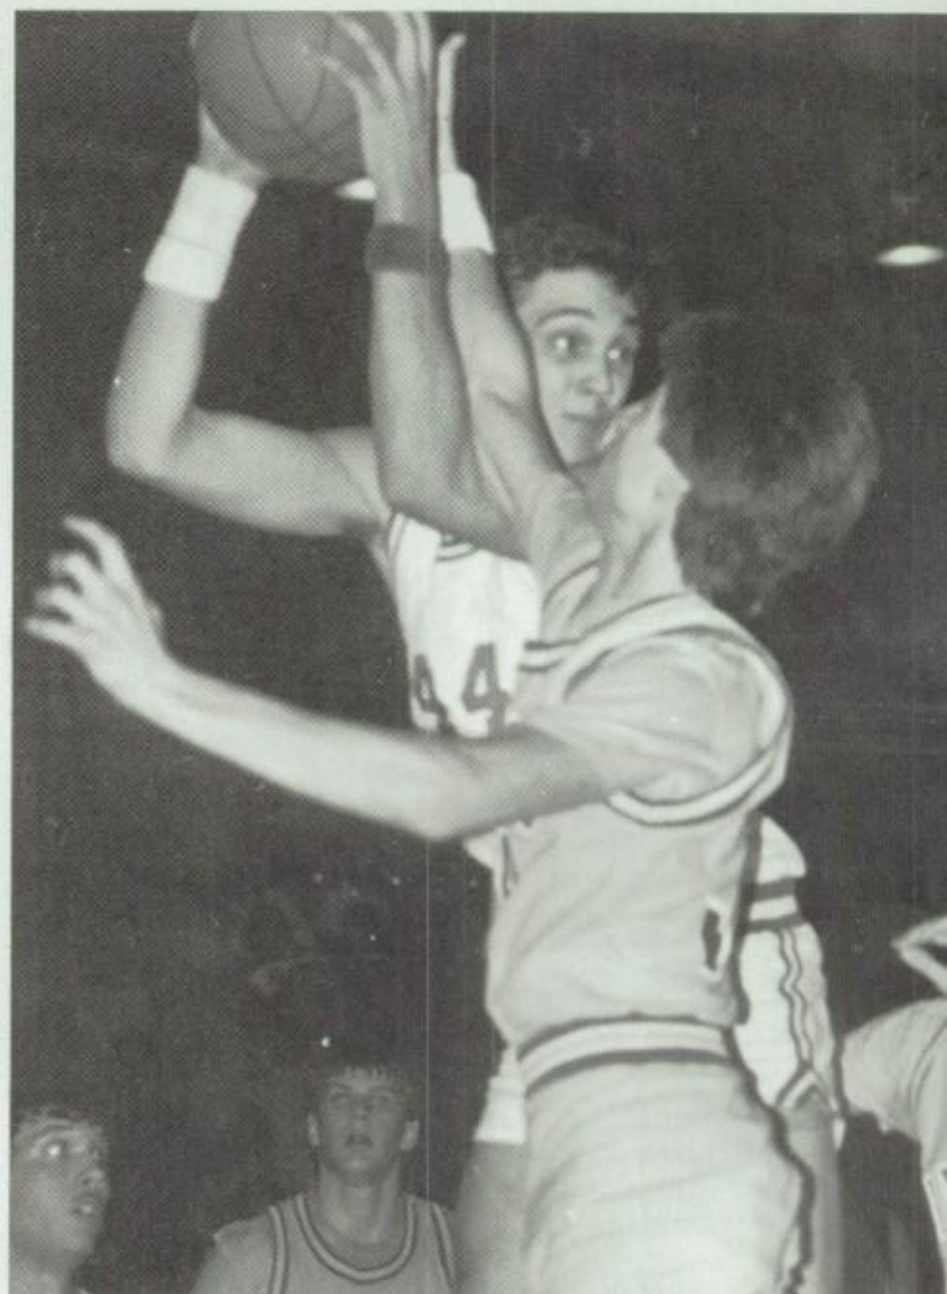

The Varsity boys finished out the season with a hard earned 20-8 record. This team effort let them place fourth in district. The stars of the team were seniors Charles Dobbins and Jason Lesuer, who both got scholarships for college. All in all, the Varsity boys squad of 1986 had a successful year.

Senior Charles Dobbins puts in another to bring his scoring of the game to 17 points.

Varsity girls turn it loose

The varsity girls basketball team finished the season third in district. Although their statistics, such as rebounds, free throws, and steals were good and they improved throughout the season, a lack of communication among team members on the court could attribute to missing that prized first-place position in district competition. Because only two will leave the team this year, leaving approximately six to seven returners, prospects for the future would seem quite hopeful for district championship.

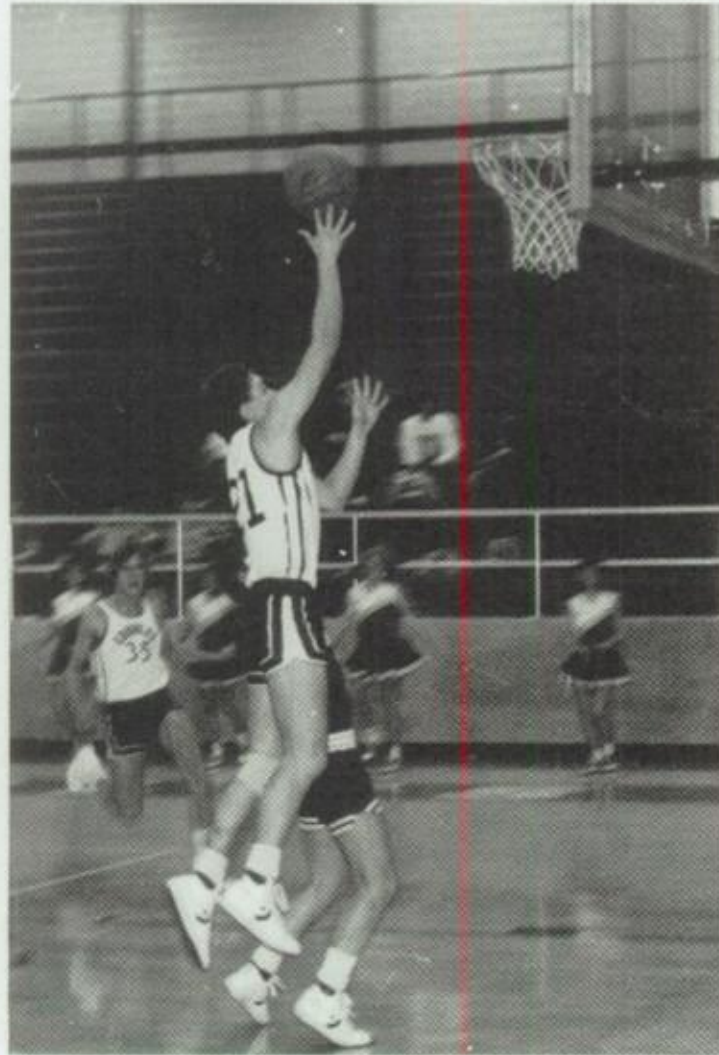

Junior Theresa Smith watches as she makes a rim shot to score two for Crowley in their home game against the Lady Lions of Brownwood.

Senior Keli Bruton, although surrounded by Granbury Pirates, manages to go in for two points as Theresa Smith and Lisa Sheldon move in to retain possession of the ball.

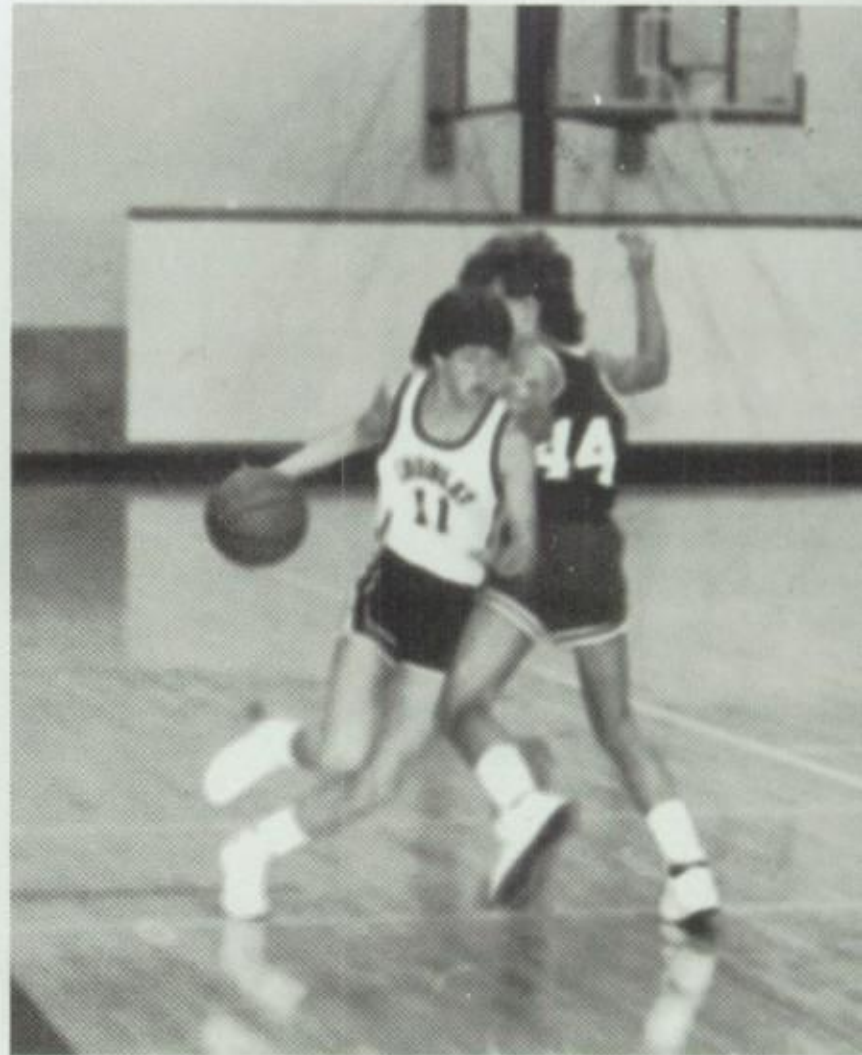

District Champs!

The junior varsity boys basketball team won district this season with only three games in the loss column. They were undefeated in district until the last game. "The team was well rounded and had a lot of people who could play. Even the people on the bench helped as they cheered the team on. If the season was any indication of what to expect from varsity, the next two years should be the best it has ever been," said Chris Bullock, manager of the junior varsity and varsity basketball teams.

Kevin White goes up for two as J. J. Lyday and Brad McCone come in to prepare for the rebound.

Lance Cook swings around his Boswell opponent to pass to teammate Kevin White in hopes of breaking the tied score.

Great Attitude Erases Inexperience

As soon as the 1985-86 basketball season was opened, the freshman boys were ready to go. Even though they worked extremely hard, their season wasn't as good as they had anticipated. There was no stopping the energy these athletes put forth during the early morning and late afternoon practices. Like these practices, their games were full of energy. Though the freshman boys didn't win all of their games, they gained experience that will be valuable to the junior varsity.

Early morning and late afternoon practices, energy consuming games, and coaches "pep talks" were all a part of this strenuous season. The freshman girls may not have been quite as victorious as they had expected to be, but like the boys, they will carry great experience with them to the junior varsity team.

Strong hearts and desires make for a better team

The smaller varsity boys track team of 1986 proved to be as good as last year's team, but improved in heart and desire to win. Crowley had many competitors to place at district and advance to regionals. Sophomore Ernest Jimenez placed first and senior Shane Yount placed second in the 3200 meter run. Others to place were senior Robbie Silver in pole vault, sophomore Brad McCone in high jump, and Barry Thomas in discus, who also won state alternate in that competition. Jimmy Lyday placed second in the 1600 meter run and Mark Thomas placed third in the shot put. The six that went to regionals were the largest in Crowley's history. "Most all competitors had their best performances at district, and that's the place to do it," said coach, Mr. Mickey Gerloff.

Sophomore Ernest Jimenez, who placed first in the 3200 meter run at the district meet, finishes with a time of 10:22.95.

Senior Wes Mahan, third from left, completes the 110 meter high hurdle race in which he placed third.

Junior Jimmy Lyday prepares to begin the 1600 meter race in which his best time was 4:42.05.

Senior Brian Wenberg tries to hold out his strength to complete his race.

Junior Craig Neal tries to put himself in the state of mind to win, win, win the 800 meter race.

Sophomore Tracy Glisson tries to get into the frame of mind to win at the district track meet.

Freshman Erika Gray is comforted by a loyal spectator when she was feeling down.

Senior Angela Houston receives the baton and begins her quest to win the relay.

Freshmen big part of varsity girls

The varsity girls track team of 1986 consisted of twenty girls, ten of which were freshmen. The squad should be an improved team next year since experience always improves the team. Due to several key injuries, the squad lost several points towards the end of the season. Two girls had a very successful year. Sophomore Kelly Guiles took first place in the shot put at the district meet and then got sixth place at the regional meet. Kelly achieved her personal best at the Keller track meet with a distance of 37 feet. Freshman D'Lisa Szedeli received first place at the district meet in the 3200 meter run, and at regionals, she received ninth place. For such a young team, the squad of 1986 had a successful year.

Freshman D'Lisa Szedeli finishes in first place at the district track meet with a time of 12:50.41 in the 3200 meter run.

J.V. Boys show promise for the future

Although the junior varsity boys squad of 1986 was smaller and younger, they were an improved team in field events. There were several boys to place in district competition. Junior Charles Flint placed second in discus, sophomore John Crouch placed fourth in intermediate hurdles, and freshman Mark Wikoff placed third in the 800-meter run, and placed sixth in the 1600-meter run. Freshman Craig Sisk placed sixth in pole vault. Track coach Mr. Mickey Gerloff added, "We were a young team — a lot of the j.v. were freshmen competing against older kids. With that kind of experience, the team shows promise for the future."

Freshman Craig Sisk, who placed sixth at district competition in pole vault, prepares to run the relay.

the Crowley track meet, sophomore Tina Immarell works diligently to finish her run.

Sophomore Shannon Kuykendall prepares herself to start the 800-meter relay.

Self-discipline and hard work wins third in district

Track was a sport that involved a lot of self-discipline and hard work. It was the individual against the clock. If the individual did not improve from week to week, it showed that there was not enough effort put forth in practice to improve. This was the role of self-discipline.

Under the coaching of Ms. Susan Watson, freshman Jennifer Feeler excelled in shot put and discus, and junior Jonna Noack excelled in shot put. For such a small team, they did well by placing third in district.

Freshman Felita Watson gives her all to keep up her pace in the 200-meter run.

STILL MOVING ON

Last year they lost bi-district — this year they won

With a slow start, the varsity baseball team got on track and won district for the second year in a row. The team won bi-district and at this writing are still in the race for the state title.

Coach Mr. Mark Jones pushed his team and they listened by beating every district team and losing only once to Everman in the first game. Crowley's overall record at this writing is 17-6.

Crowley was led by pitcher/hitter Johnny Duncan. Duncan was the team leader in hitting and pitching. He was also a leader in hitting and pitching in Tarrant County.

Crowley also had strong hitters like Scott Shafer, Charles Dobbins, Scott Macaulay, Kevin New, and Doug Marshall. The team was made up of mostly seniors so this might have been the last chance to go all the way.

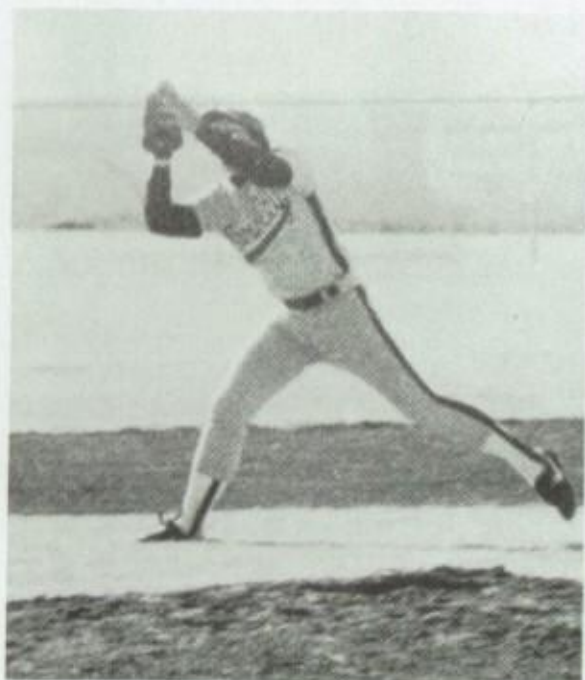

Even though next year's team will be tough, they will probably never compare to the team of 1986!

Varsity coach Mr. Mark Jones shared, "I'm thankful for what's happened to this team. They've gone through a lot to be where they are today. Praise belongs to Coach Dennis Alvarez, the players, and the Lord Jesus whom we dedicated each game to."

Senior Charles Dobbins cautiously arrives at home plate to tie the game 7-7.

Senior Charles Fisher prepares to hit the final ball deciding if Crowley won or lost. They won.

Junior Kevin New catches a pop fly just before they proceed to the second inning.

Senior Johnny Duncan strikes out another guy in the stormiest (as in weather) game of the season.

Senior Scott Anderson gets called out as he slides into home base.

Senior Johnny Duncan comforts Senior Scott Macauley after he was thrown out of the game for running into the pitcher.

Junior Kevin New prepares to run as he hits the ball at the Everman game.

Junior Varsity Wins District

Making it an annual event, Crowley's junior varsity baseball team added another district win to Crowley's record book. With a large team of seventeen members, the junior varsity went undefeated in district and 10-3 overall. At the end of the season, ten members advanced to the varsity squad. This year's team had an excellent team batting average of .350 behind hard-hitting sophomore Blake Young and his .500 batting average. The leading pitcher for Crowley junior varsity was sophomore Mike Gordon with a record of 5-0. Next year, the junior varsity should be a big help to the varsity in winning district again and advancing to the playoffs. "We had an outstanding season with a real solid pitching staff this year. All of our starters who moved to varsity after the season will definitely enhance their chances of advancing in state competition again next year," concludes Mr. Dennis Alvarez, coach of this year's junior varsity team.

A New Beginning

"We didn't win very many games, but we tried our hardest. It was fun being on the team, and would have been a lot more fun if more people would have been on the team. We won two games because our opponents had to forfeit due to lack of players. I think we could have done better with more people, but it's too late now," said Roger Sutherland a member of the newly formed freshman baseball team. Mr. Steve Brown, a transfer from the middle school, was the coach of the new young team. Crowley freshmen had a fair year with a 4-6 record and proved themselves though competition in the district race. Behind the successful hitting of Jamie Whiteside, Jeff Ishmael, and Micheal Justice, the freshman team showed that they will be a welcome addition to the to the junior varsity team and perhaps help them maintain their title of district champs. Jeff Ishmael said, "It was fun, but we had a short season. The practices were fun too. I wish I could play baseball again next year, but my family is moving. My teammates were lots of fun to be with."

Tee-off Time

The golf team practiced every day, during sixth period and until 5:30 p.m. on some days. On Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, the team would journey to a nearby golf course to play "the professional way." Freshman Scott Harris, who placed second in district golf competition, said, "I really enjoy the game. I have really improved my attitude since we started out."

Tee-off time! Golf members practice teeing off during sixth period.

Love that tennis

Senior Kim Reynolds prepares to return a wild ball at a home tennis match.

Using concentration, junior Mark Filipek returns the ball with great speed.

Senior Kim Noe shows great form as she prepares to bust the ball.

Senior Tony Pletcher backhands a slicing ball.

Bumps and bruises

A part of athletics that was rarely mentioned was the Crowley Eagle training staff. The trainers did many things for the athletes. They were responsible for preventing, caring, and rehabilitating injuries. Many of the student trainers had a good chance to obtain a scholarship in training from a major university. "Hopefully, Crowley will have some students go into training," said Mr. Dan Taylor, coach and head trainer for Crowley, "but with the quality of the kids in the program, they are capable of going into any field."

(right) Coach Dan Taylor is ready and waiting to repair one of our players' injuries in case Burleson gets lucky enough to injure one.

Count Me In!

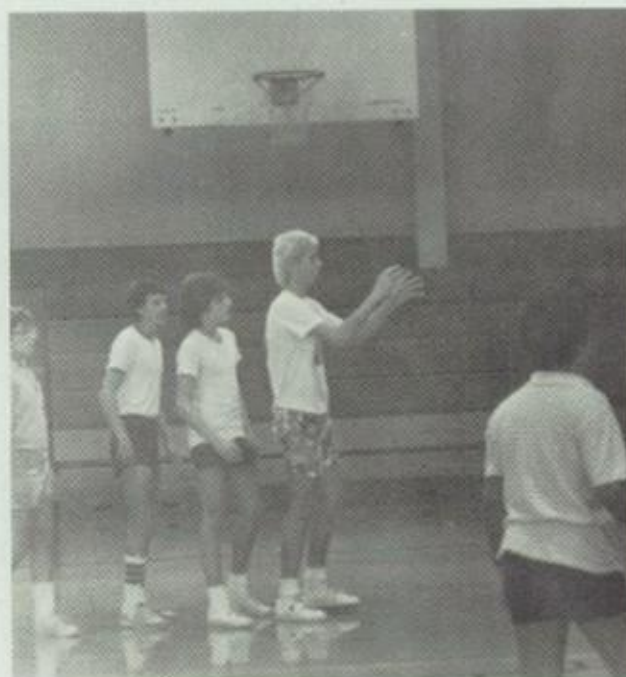

Although lacking the luster and glamour afforded junior varsity and varsity sports, the five areas making physical education gave many a student a chance to excel as well as learn sports they could use for a lifetime. These five sports programs were team sports, lifetime sports, gymnastics, weights and wrestling, and fitness and figure. Of the five programs, weights and wrestling, and fitness and figure were the most popular among the student body.

(far right) "Hurry it 'up'!" Growing impatient, Gracie Gonzales, freshman, stands last in line to jump on the trampoline.

FANS: COULDN'T MAKE IT WITHOUT THEM

If there's anything about Crowley Eagle fans, they are faithful to the teams. They show up for games whether it is raining, snowing, or just down right cold. Whether the teams are winning or losing, the fans are always ready to attend. They display unbeatable spirit to give the players the needed encouragement. The fans are always ready to participate in the spirit-raising activities. Without these supportive fans, the teams might not even have a will to win. The fans are a special part of Crowley High School; a part that will always be appreciated.

Seniors Addie Bober, Kelly Brownfield, Lisa Baker, and Cheryl Olson show their proud spirit at the Brownwood pep rally.

Alumni of Crowley show their support by attending games during the cold weather.

Especially at Homecoming, Eagle fans always manage to fill the stands.

Senior David Rogers portrays a student who is proud of his school. Dedicated, he cheers on the players at the Everman pep rally.

Proud to be the recipient of the spirit stick, junior Pat Hurd displays pure conceit concerning his latest achievement.

Sophomores Glenn Broadaway, Nicole Pandolfo, and Michael Gordon demonstrate what an "ever faithful, every loyal" student at Crowley High should be.

The goal of the social studies classes was to involve students in the world around them. World history classes learned more about cultures of the world, major world conflicts, as well as great leaders and governments of our planet. American history classes studied major eras, such as the depression and the turbulent sixties, and our role in major world conflicts. Students in social studies also stayed abreast of current events, sometimes as they happened, as in the cases of the Challenger disaster and the U.S. bombing of Libya.

History and Geography

Junior Jimmy Lyday receives the Honors World History award from Senior Chris Fowler.

Mrs. Baker's class enjoys a game of trivial pursuit during second period World History.

Sitting in American History class, Tommy Drebing and Paul Menchaca laugh over a funny joke.

The government class tried to teach all aspects of American government and foreign involvement. Some things the government classes learned and argued about were different criminal trials, Teacher Ms. Sarah McClean said that "the students were independent and had their original thoughts." Economics studied the increase and decrease of the stock market and the laws of supply and demand. Government and economics were classes that taught many things that will be valuable in life.

Government and Economics

Senior Angie Minhinnett, junior Huette Merrel, junior Nikki Hudson, and senior Eileen Simon enjoy some extra study time.

Mr. Marty Marion, government instructor, is interrupted during a long lecture on the functions of the United States government.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

Under the tutelage of Mrs. Pat Sawyer, speech students learned to sharpen their speaking skills and techniques. While Speech I centered on exercises designed to develop confidence, Speech II utilized that confidence in UIL competition. Another part of speech, debate, sent two teams to UIL competition where they placed first and third.

Senior debate students Curtis Sheldon and Angie Houston debate the subject of water conservation.

1986 Debate Team. Rick Daniel, Edward McGonigle, Donovan Cole, Mrs. Pat Sawyer, Curtis Sheldon, Kevin Knierum, Scot McClure, Angie Houston, and Michelle Chandler.

Junior Donovan Cole, who placed fourth in standard debate, practices his case on the quality of water in the U.S. Before competing at district, mock debates were held for interested classes.

The 1985-86 TALON Staff added a new dimension to their overloaded schedules by writing numerous articles for the local paper. Still, meeting the deadlines took top priority with the staff as they interviewed, photographed, wrote, edited, drew, developed, and revamped the 1986 TALON. Several awards were won by the staff at a workshop held at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Journalism

Ah got you! Working very hard on copy, Preshie Kendall, one of the more responsible workers, hurries to meet a deadline.

... 27 ... 28 ... 29 Back in the darkroom developing film, Jeff Bivens and other photographers worked to keep the requests for pictures on schedule.

Besides teaching three classes of English I, Ms. Kay Newberry headed Crowley's drama department. In that position, she taught two drama classes, produced and directed the school play, produced, directed and worried through one-act play competition, and advised the Thespian Society. After thirteen years she said, "It has been the most difficult year I have ever had in regard to my drama program. The fact that we were able to win alternate in district competition was nothing short of a miracle. But, by the same token, I have been blessed with new friendships as a result of both plays."

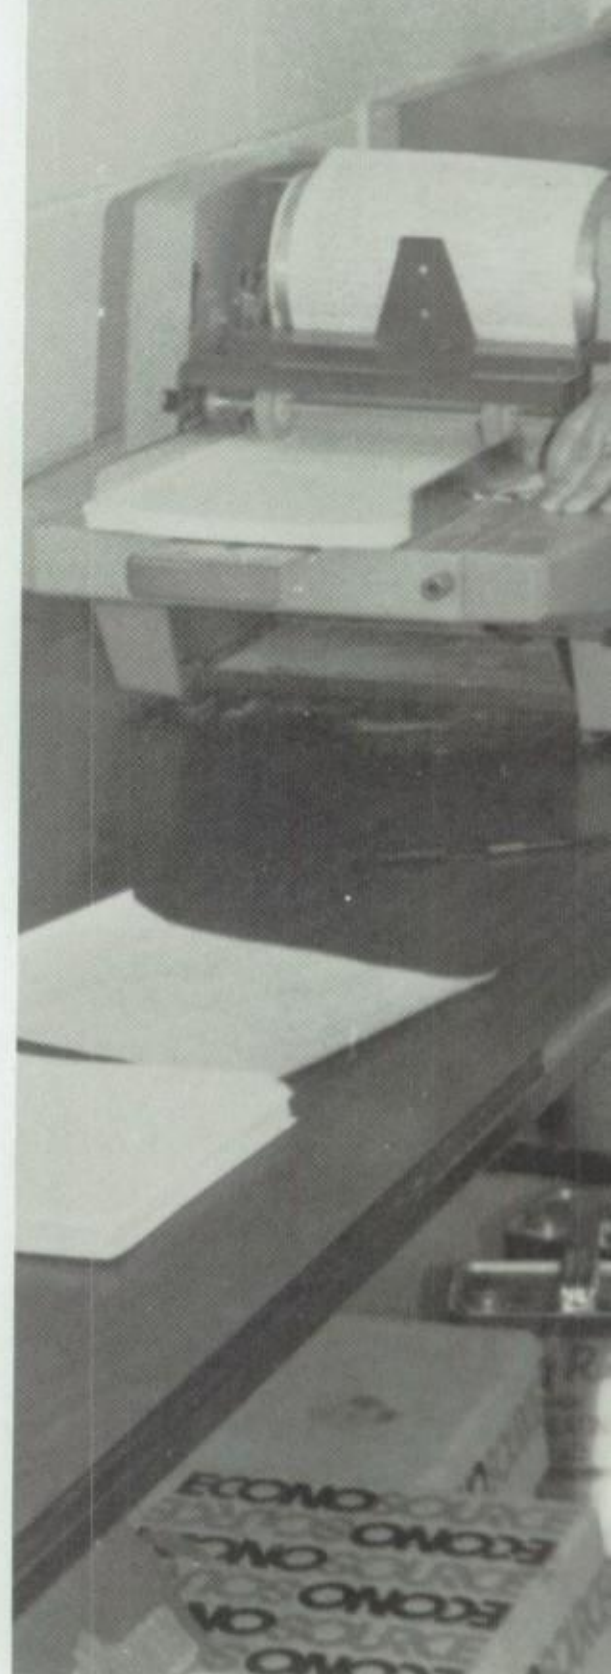

DRAMA

English teacher, Mrs. Betty O'Neal, gets tickled as she produces more work for her students and more purple ink to get off her hands.

Discussing "The Crucible," the cast of Laura Lee Gray, Jason Frittz, Kerry Vandeventer, Jennifer Deleeuw, Rick Taylor, Tammy Richardson, Brad Curry, Kim Kendrix, and Ms. Kay Newberry prepare for competition. Of senior and four-year drama student Laura Lee Gray, Ms. Newberry says, "If I had a clone of her for every year, I would be the luckiest teacher in Texas!"

Although she looks like Julie Andrews bounding through the hills in The Sound of Music, Ms. Kay Newberry actually does a desktop rendition of "Let Me Entertain You" from Gypsy.

Teaching English was no easy job. Ask any teacher preparing for the infamous TECAT or any teacher of the language grading student compositions or research papers. Teachers and students struggled the first semester through grammar rules, while writing, spelling, and increasing vocabulary were year-long tasks. Forays into the library to complete junior and senior research papers made underclassmen apprehensive of what lay ahead. In the spring, teachers tried to instill an interest in the classics of literature among all students. Oh well . . .

ENGLISH

Ms. Janet Henderson watches her English class intently trying to make some sense of the rules of the language.

Admiring the enthusiasm of sophomore Kevin White, Mrs. Trudy Logsdon usually tolerates moans and groans toward the Bard by most students. Classmate Shelly Shultz seems to be questioning Kevin's mental status.

Parlez-vous français? Oui! ¿Habla usted español? ¡Sí!

Crowley offered two types of foreign language classes, French and Spanish. These were taught by Miss Linda Crutchfield, Mr. Lucio Soriano, Mrs. Marie Croft, and Miss Ann Tyler. Enrollment in the foreign language classes increased greatly this year due partly to a change of requirements at many colleges. Most now state students must have two years of a foreign language. "I think students will benefit from this in the future," said sophomore, Mike Gordon, who is also president of the Spanish Club.

Joel Burns, Candi Joseph, and Connie Stephens show off some of the Spanish projects done by students in Miss Tyler's classes.

Dodi Duncan, Staci Bruton, Jeff Gunn, Steve Moody, Charlotte Jones, and Paula Carlisle take time out during a Spanish I lab to model the different styles of jams worn on jam day. Students learn to grocery shop in Spanish during this particular lab.

It all adds up

" $2 + 2 = 4$; $4 \times 2 = 8$..." That is what most people think math is all about. However, the students of Crowley High do not agree. The math classes that the students have taken this year were hard for some, but came fairly easy for others. There was a wide variety of math classes to choose from. They ranged from FOM (Fundamentals of Math) to calculus (the most difficult course offered to the student body).

Junior, Chris Oakley studies for a Spanish test at the table while Mr. Lucio Soriano looks on.

Mrs. Kay Sheetz takes time out from explaining geometry to smile at the camera as her students try to get in on the picture.

The essence of leaf collections and dissection of a frog were among the many projects biology students attempted throughout the year. Physical science students learned the periodical table of elements, some of the great physicists, as well as gained an introduction to biology and chemistry. While chemistry students studied the basics of organic chemical processes, physics classes studied the essentials of energy and motion.

Misfits of Science

(right) Chemistry students Kyle Dunn and Jay Jordan watch their concoction bubble over. Next they will toss a coin to see who will clean up the mess.

Computers

What comes to mind when you think of computers? That it will be loads of fun and games? Ms. Carol Glenn's students expected just that. Little did they know it would mean learning and plenty of hard work with little (video-type) games. Ms. Glenn said "I enjoyed teaching the class, but I am not sure they always enjoyed learning! Next year should be lots of fun!" Students such as Bobby Slaughter, Steve Gregg, and UIL computer winner, John Gardner all felt that they received plenty of knowledge from computer class. Except for the fact that it was harder than they thought it would be, too much work (always a student complaint), and not enough games, they all agreed the time was justifiably spent. They could always improve their video game scores with allowance turned into plenty of quarters.

(right) Ms. Glenn's (un)usual view of her class as Steve Gregg, Paul Martin and John Gardner work on programs they designed.

"How do you turn this thing on?" exclaims senior Joel Dworkin, as he attempts to work on another assignment.

Art/Drafting

Students in Art I, II, and drafting courses tapped an unknown reserve of talent and gained practical experience that could land many an interesting and good paying job in a future laden with art and drafting-related careers. Mr. Jim Mitchell's Art II class ventured from the classroom to help Crowley celebrate the Texas Sesquicentennial by painting a mural depicting the growth of Crowley over the past 150 years.

Shop

Besides learning under the experience of Mr. Steve Strickland, students in shop classes had hands-(carefully) on experience with various types of machinery used to turn wood and metal into practical creations. Although vocational classes such as these were under fire this year, it was obvious that students gained practical experience that can be used in many walks of everyday life — experience that would greatly be missed should funds for supporting these courses ever disappear.

Homemaking

The homemaking department has indeed worked hard this year. Homemaking students were encouraged by the teachers, Mrs. Gail Bumpus, Mrs. Janet Smalley, and Mrs. Diane Smith, who felt that students involved in homemaking gain valuable skills needed in running an organized, efficient home.

(below) Blowing balloons up for homemaking's annual "Smoke-out Day," Merri-Marie Brown, Tammy Young, and Cindy English help to make this a day that usually witnesses several addicts giving up the cancer sticks.

DECA

Distributive Education Clubs of America prepared students in the fast-growing areas of marketing, merchandising, and management. As well, students gained knowledge that could be used in owning and operating their own businesses one day. Although they attended regular academic classes, the students spent half of each school day on the job. Mrs. Debra Hartman, coordinator, traveled and visited with each student's employer to get an overall impression of their capabilities as employees.

Lisa Alvarez, Richard Barton, and Charity Edwards take a wellneeded break at the DECA awards assembly.

Crowley High School's Office Duplication Practices class was an exciting class to learn many needed skills. With so many businesses doing in-house printing, these skills could land students high-paying jobs, close to home. In ODP, the students learned how to operate computers, cash registers, and various printing equipment, as well as typing, calculating, developing skills in good working habits, interviewing for jobs, communicating, artwork design, and filing techniques.

Cosmetology

The cosmetology students were required to have 1500 hours in order to pass and receive their license. They earned 1000 hours in class and were given 500 hours for approved academic classes. The classes were given twice a day for three hours. To receive a license, students had to go before the state board and make at least a 75% on theory and practical. When given license, they were eligible to work anywhere in the state of Texas. In class they were taught all skills required to work in a beauty salon from haircut to pedicures.

Aimee Joyner, junior cosmetology student, gives a mock dye to her model head during cosmetology.

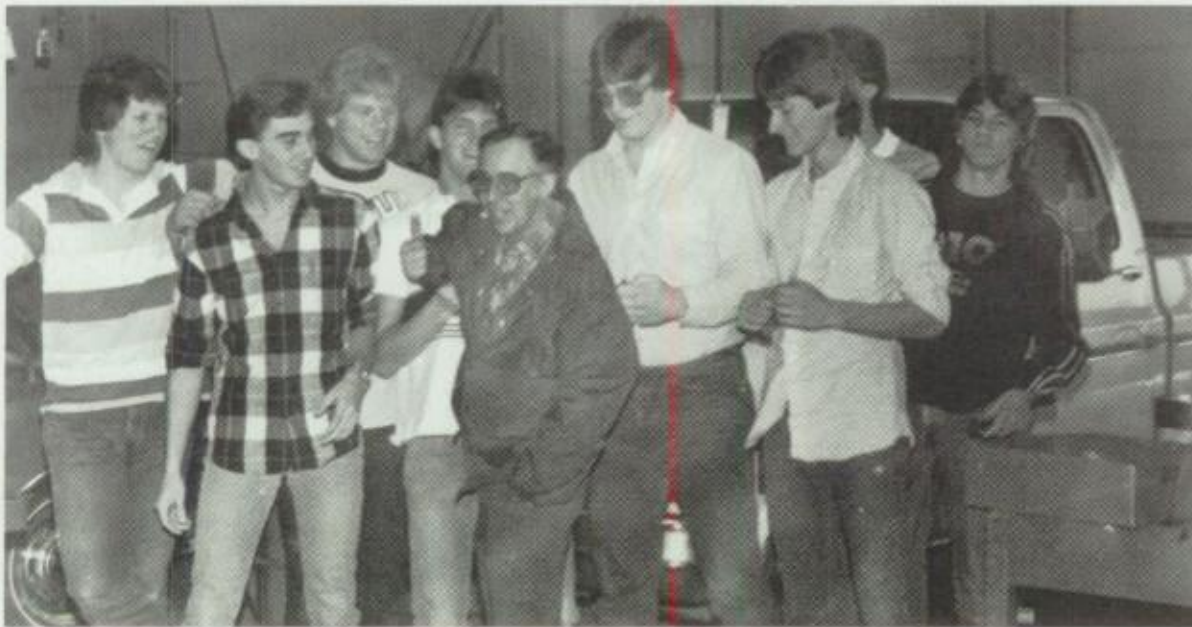

After a hard day of making others more beautiful, Tammy Furtick prepares to face the world.

VICA

Would you let these guys work on your car? You should. They were in training for two hours each day of the school week, learning how to recognize and repair the problems that plagued our cars. Housed in a fine workshop/garage that heretofore was not used (due to lack of interest), the first-of-it's-kind class took cars from the community and fixed them for a small fee. Their work was supervised by Mr. Adrien Cox, who came to Crowley this year to head the program and guided it through its first year.

(middle center) "She's hot!" Steve Norris beams with confidence at a completed job well done.

ICT

The Industrial Cooperative Training program provided training in technical occupations for interested juniors and seniors. Students work part time in businesses within the community to receive practical experience. They attend their regular academic classes as well as special ICT classes designed to provide training and related information in technical occupations.

Ms. Karen Banker, ICT coordinator, gives her students information on how useful the media can be when trying to locate jobs or make career decisions.

(below center) Seniors Mike McLeod and James Smith use the newspaper and the yellow pages as sources for job and career opportunities.

Students in the ICT, cosmetology, and appliance repair program are eligible and encouraged to participate in VICA. This nationwide student organization is dedicated to providing leadership development activities. Through VICA, (the vocational Industrial Club of America), students have the opportunity to meet and compete with other students on local, state, and national levels. Competition includes such areas as public speaking, job interview simulation, job skills, individual projects and technical information. Club officers and members participate in organizing social activities, planning trips to area businesses, colleges and technical schools, as well as inviting guest speakers from business and industry into the classroom.

CVAE

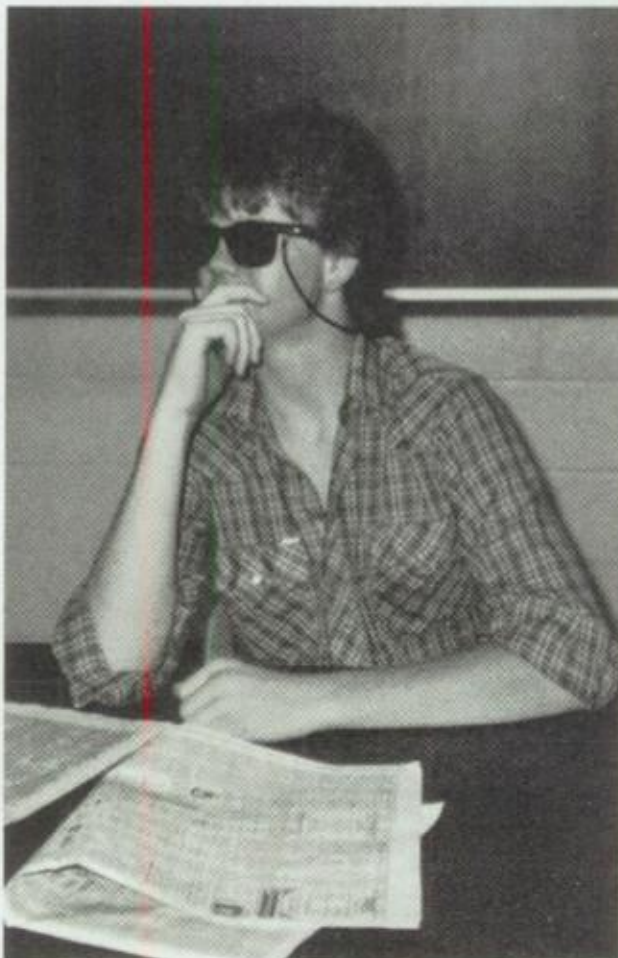

CVAE teaches students to keep a job and to go to school. The class helps students learn to be successful in both school and on the job and to become a positive contribution to society.

The CVAE students hold down jobs such as stock and inventory workers at supermarkets and other stores, sackers at grocery stores, receptionists, cooks at restaurants, and ride attendants at Six Flags.

The CVAE program is specifically designed for potential high school drop-outs. It helps to keep them in school and to learn that they can succeed. Unfortunately, the future of this and other vocation classes is unknown. Due to state changes in funding and student requirements, this part of education may be eliminated in the future.

Ms. Karen Banker, the CVAE instructor, takes a moment out of her hectic schedule to smile for the camera.

Rusty Huff, Ms. Karen Banker, and Dan Williams lounge around talking about the latest happenings.

VOE

Vocational Opportunity Education trains students for office occupations. The goal for the class is to bring all the students' skills together in the classroom and expand those skills by working for companies in the area.

The VOE senior students held an appreciation dinner for their parents. Two students, Cheryl Daniel and Rose Stuart, attended the state leadership conference. The students also hosted a breakfast for their employers. By the end of the year, the students knew how to handle all office situations.

During VOE class, senior Cheryl Daniel checks the classified ads for possible job openings.

The Vocational Opportunity Education teacher, Ms. Barbara Hall, checks to be sure that all of her students are in attendance.

Health, a very informative course, familiarized students with their bodies and how they function. Students learned the names of all bones and muscles throughout the body and what they were for. They were informed of various health problems and how to detect and treat them. Students also learned the dangers of using drugs and alcohol and the effects of smoking. They learned the psychological dangers of betraying themselves due to peer pressure. Besides being a required course, students enjoyed health because they learned more about themselves.

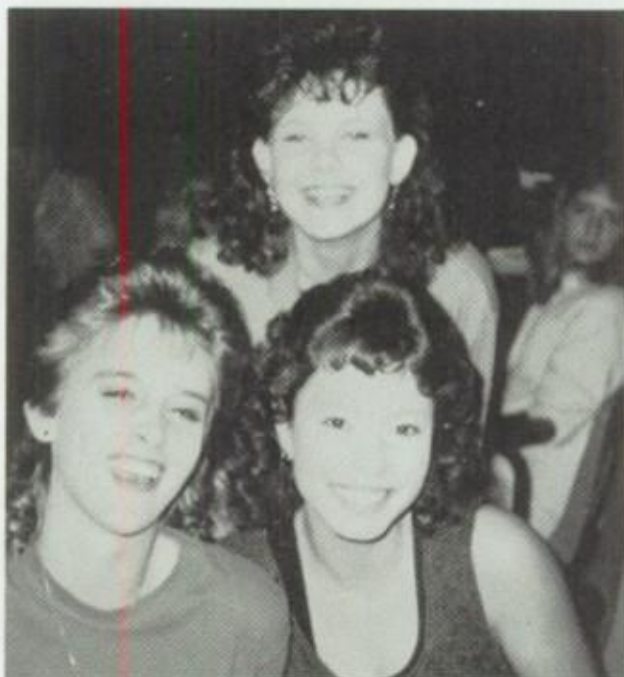

HEALTH

The students in Ms. Kathy Anderson's special education class were busy throughout the year. As a class, they did many fun things as well as studying mathematics, English, history, and science. They learned family living skills such as cooking. They spent some time doing arts and crafts and other pastimes like reading. The special education students also learned and practiced sign language. On nice days, the students went out to the track to practice their athletic skills. They played football, ran, or just walked around the track. The students participated in sheltered workshops performing tasks for the community. They stapled papers and did other assembly work like putting together nuts and bolts. The special education class was a very busy program that learned all trades.

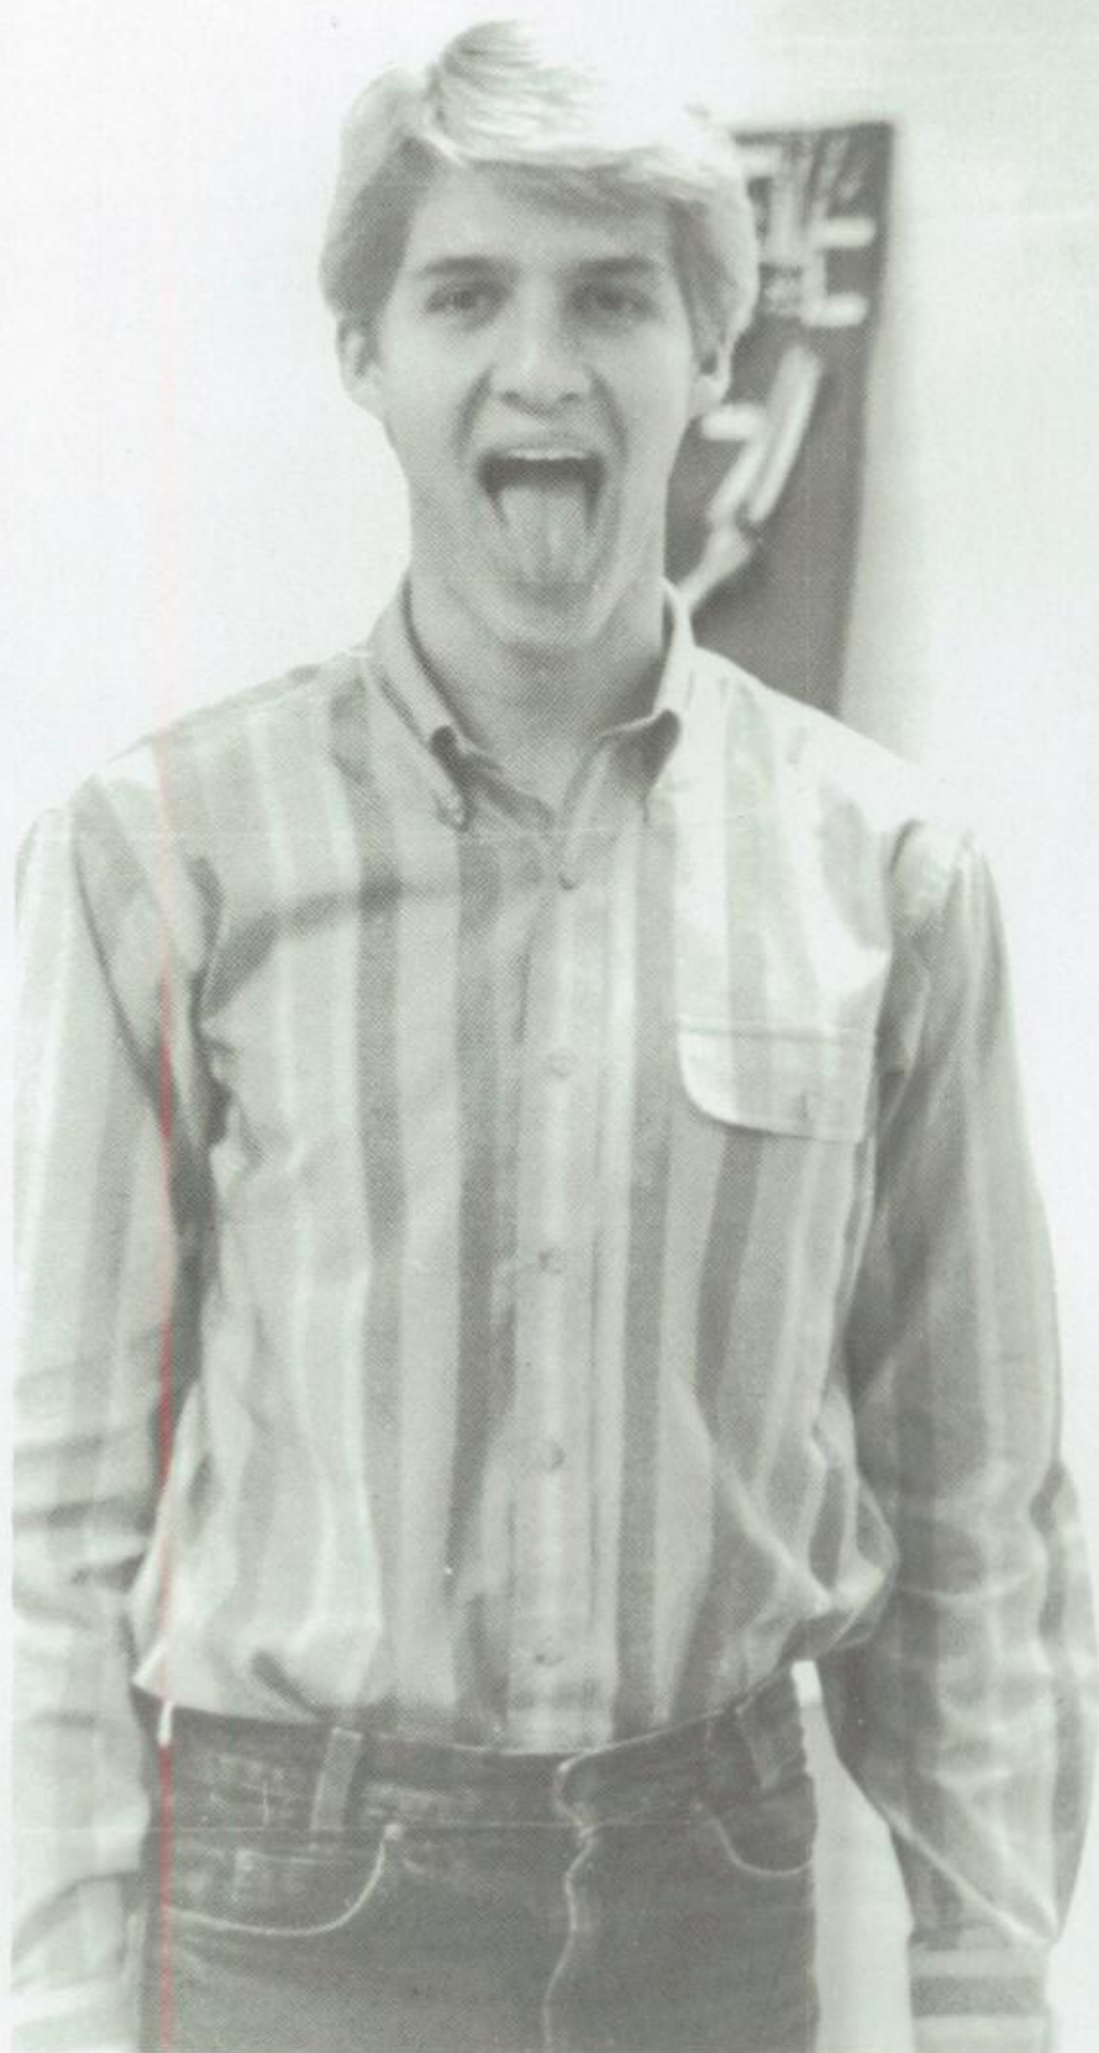

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Russell Farina, Terry Lockhart, Lenora Winters, Rodney Olguin, Keary Thomas, Tony Cantu, Robert Burgett and Steven Colveck read their history books in Ms. Kathy Anderson's class.

Tony Cantu, usually a very active guy, settles down to look at a book with Mr. Veldon Fathergill's grandson, Dusty.

MR. and MISS CHS

Laura Lee Gray

With the support of a myriad of talents and the love of most anyone she came in contact with, Laura Lee will head for Howard Payne University in Brownwood, Texas where she will major in elementary education. For four years she graced the halls of Crowley High with a genuine smile and love for everyone. Her schedule, demands, and honors increased each year, and so did her radiance and poise. Always supportive of her school, she walked away this her last year with most every coveted award possible. Through it all, she praised the Lord for all her blessings — never herself. As her drama teacher, Mrs. Kay Newberry said, "It'll be hard to replace her on the stage." So too, it will be hard to replace her in all aspects of school of which she was a part.

Parents of younger children should take note. Both recipients this year came from tight families with a strong religious foundation. Parents were strict, expectations were high, but love, involvement and support were the greatest elements observed. Were the parents just lucky? Some would say they were — but there seemed to be too many of these common threads among the families of all the stars of the class of 1986 — and there were plenty of stars.

Barry Thomas

Described by many teachers and friends as a highly ethical and honorable young man, Barry also knew how to have fun at school and was not above the normal Shenanigans of adolescence. Although many honors came his way, he remained humble, respectful of others, true to his school, and extremely well liked. His honors in athletics were many and his dedicated work on Student Council helped make Crowley's council one of the best in the state of Texas. Wherever there was a need to help out, Barry seemed to be there to "carry the ball" so to speak. As in the case of Laura Lee, Barry also seemed to gain every award there was during his senior year.

Valedictorian

On May 16, 1986, Amy Mize was announced as this year's valedictorian with a grade point average of 99.10. When asked how it felt to achieve such an honor, she replied, "I feel special, of course, but not as elated as some might think, I achieved this honor one day at a time, and so I don't feel like I just won a big swim meet or something like that. However, I am rather proud of myself." Amy has really enjoyed her high school years. She always allowed herself to have fun and enjoy life; she never let herself be overly burdened with trying to make good grades. She also always trusted the Lord, she stated, to guide her through her studies and life. Amy plans to attend West Texas State University to obtain a bachelor's degree in business. She also hopes to own and operate her own Christian radio station some day in the future.

Valedictorian, Amy Mize, receives her Girls' State certificate during awards day. "She's a very competitive individual who doesn't know the meaning of failure. She's also a very fine person and I know she will succeed at anything she tries," said Mr. Ed Martinez, Amy's band director.

Salutatorian

With a grade point average of 97.39, Sharon Pair earned the honor of this year's salutatorian. "I am really pleased with this honor. It's the biggest achievement of my life," said Sharon. She did not participate in sports, so she felt that gave her extra time to work on her homework. She said she did not have to study extensively, but has always made sure she did her homework and made it to class. This helped with her grades, too. Sharon locked herself in her room at home and studied 3-4 hours for final exams. She thought the tests were more important than other tests. After having spent her entire education within the Crowley ISD, Sharon now plans to attend Texas

A&M and major in veterinarian medicine. Having worked for a local vet, she feels the usual struggle to get into the only vet school in the state will perhaps be a little easier.

Sharon Pair, salutatorian, shows her leadership abilities as she calls a meeting of future homemakers to order. Her homemaking teacher, Mrs. Gail Bumpus, said of Sharon, "She's a very determined lady who has very definite goals. She was very thorough and responsible as a student, and anything she does, she does quite well."

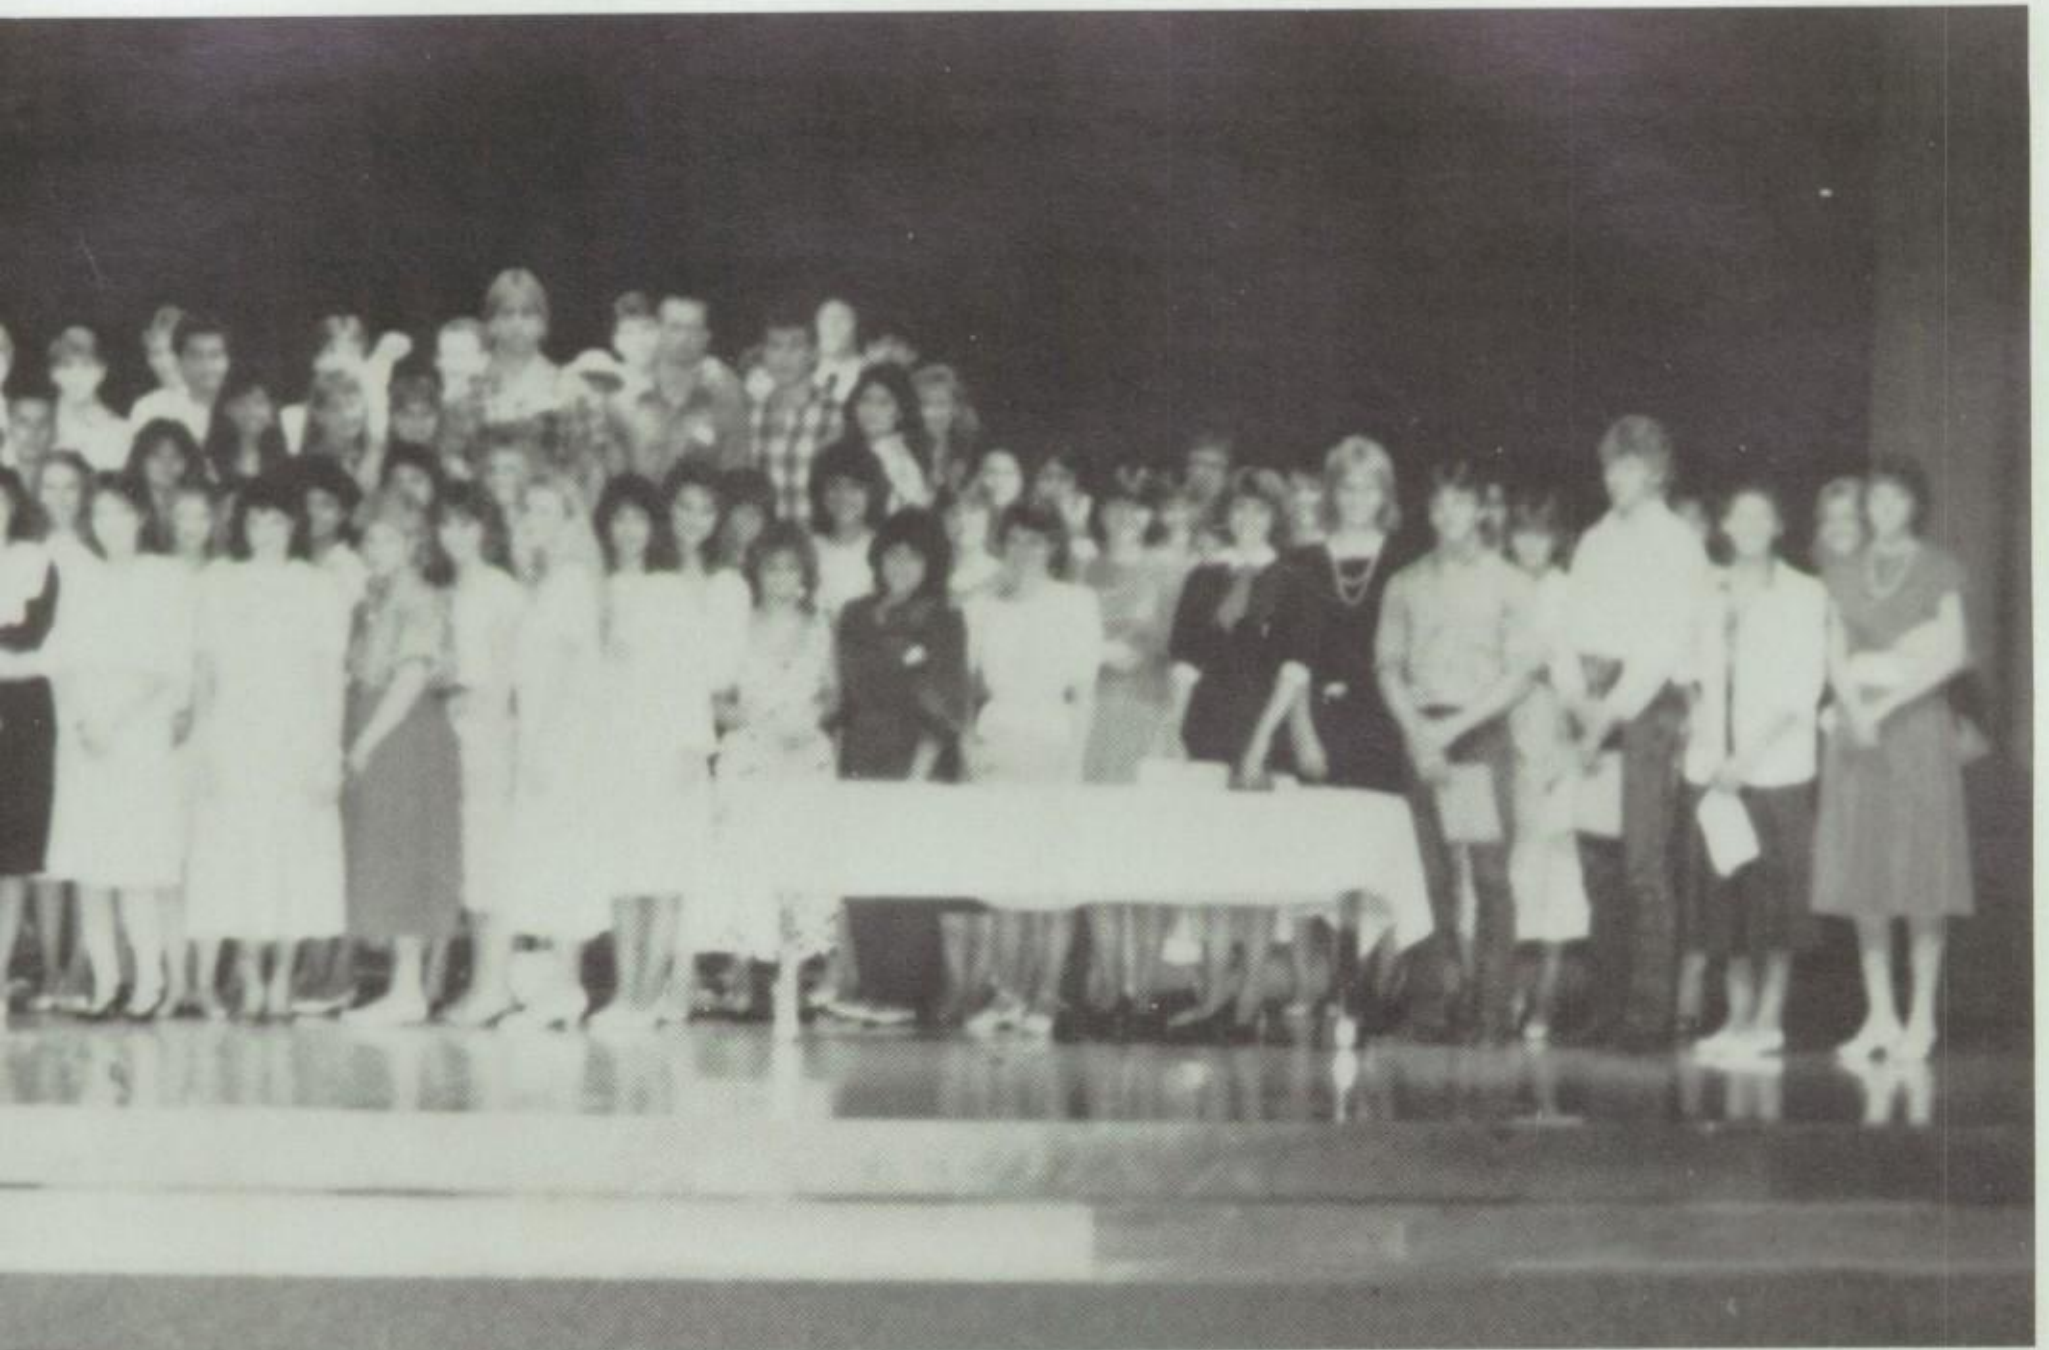

Award Winners

Held in May of each year, the Awards Assembly, although long, was an event most students anxiously awaited (especially juniors and seniors) despite their outward actions. Parents and guests show up in the hundreds to watch as their special people walked forward to be recognized for excellence in some academic area. The program began with the introduction of new National Honor Society members and their proud parents. It continued with awards in all subject areas and concluded with special community and school honors, awards, and scholarships. The smoothly run program was undertaken and produced by the National Honor Society and their sponsors, Mrs. Vicki Glass, Mrs. Sylvia Lucas, and Mrs. Barbara Gregory.

Awards were presented as follows: Tammy Leshner, personal business management; Lisa Gray, Typing I; Julie Plumadore, Typing II; Kathy Wommack, Accounting I; Eileen Simon, Accounting II; Angela Bullock, shorthand; Doug Hopkins, Art I; Steve Barton, Art II; Dave Chlup, Art III; Lisa Sheldon, Art IV; Laura Ohlen, symphonic band; Edward McGonigle, stage band; Sherian Weiss, concert band; Ann Rejda, choir; choir; Laura Lee Gray, theatre-outstanding student; Fred Whitley, Woodworking I; James Winn, Woodworking II; Jimmy Scoma, Metal Working I; Stephanie Shipp, Correlated English I; Scott Force, English I; Dixie Pipe, Honors English I; Fred Whiteley, Correlated English II; Jennifer Brown, English II; Kristi Elkins, Honors English II; Mike Cummins, Basic English III; Nikki Hudson, English III; Carrie Cardwell, Honors English III; Christina Stroud, Correlated English IV; Lisa Reimer, English IV; Amy Mize, AP English IV; Chris Fowler, journalism; Michelle Chandler, Speech I; Lisa Gray, Speech II; Laura Lee Gray, UIL prep.; Angela Houston and Curtis Sheldon, standard debate (team); Rick Daniel, Lincoln-Doubllass debate; Jennifer Deleeuw, French I; Brenda Marney French II; Ben Sikes, Spanish I; Kevin Murphy, Spanish II; Vickie New, F.O.M.; Brenda Skinner, consumer math; Lynn Chapman, pre-algebra; Mark Wikoff, Algebra I; Chad Duren, geometry; Kevin Landers, Algebra II; John Gardner, computer science; Stephen Houchen, trigonometry/elementary analysis; Amy Mize, calculus; Stephanie Hallet, fitness and figure; Tracy Kelsey, gymnastics; Chris McGrath, health; Karina Wiering, lifetime sports; Richard Cooksey, team sports; Terry Smith, weights; Robin Bazil, introduction to physical science; Jason Turbeville, physical science; Buster Dixon, introduction to biology; Hoong Gee Young, Biology I; Margaret Perry, Biology I Honors; Jennifer Brown, chemistry; Kevin Landers, chemistry honors; Kristin Tapleshay, Biology II; Amy Mize, physics; Sharon Pair, AP Biology; Tony Plecher, American history; Janie Dye, basic American History; Connie Haynie, world geography; Nancy Rocamontes, world history; Jimmy Lyday, Honors World History; Danny Sample, sociology; Laura Ohlen, government; Greg Williams, economics; Angie Minhinnette, AP American History; Ricky Ripple, home economics cooperative education; Lara Hedgepeth, Homemaking I; Sharon Pair, Homemaking II; Becky Durham, child development; Helen Sulak, clothing; Lori Garner, family living; Shelley Baldwin, food and nutrition; Robert Burgett, pre-vocational; Rodney Olguin, Vocational Adjustment Co-op II; Sylvia Trevino, Vocational Adjustment Co-op III; Kim Herring, Office Duplicating Practices I; Glen Braudaway, Office Duplicating Practices II; Valerie Goforth, Cosmetology I; Angel Green, Cosmetology II; Willie

Determination and Excellence Pays Off

Although sometimes forgotten by the student body to be a teacher, principal Mr. Mike Leach is presented with a boutonniere by senior Helen Sulak and a plaque naming him as teacher of the year as voted on by fellow teachers.

Voted on by the student body, Mr. Bob Burger, teacher of economics and tips on life, is presented with his award by Michelle Tucker of Future Teachers of America.

Mrs. Dee Dee Crews, retiring resource Math teacher, is presented with a corsage by senior Helen Sulak.

Band Awards

All region band members are Robert Gillies, Lisa Flammang, Bryan Wright, Holly Ohlen, Jearrel Webb, Carl Kling, Mike Chapman and Kristi Elkins.

Band officers are Susie Yerigan, sophomore representative; Lori Garner, junior representative; Lisa Flammang, student council representative; Steve Bell, president; Jennifer Klawitter, secretary; David Sanchez, vice president; Carolyn Rhoden, treasurer; and Carl Kling, drum major.

The Crowley Eagle band of 1986 sent 30 members to the state solo and ensemble contest.

ADMINISTRATION

Unknown to many, the administration at Crowley consisted of hard working folk such as Mrs. Vicki Glass, who not only kept the library up to date, but was ready to help students with research. Mrs. Ronna White dealt with the nutritional breakfasts and lunches for the entire district. Mr. Ray Brewton not only coordinated education for the community, but took on the directorship of transportation in all aspects of school life. There were so very many others who made up the integral backbone of administration, and as usual, space does not permit their proper recognition.

Looking over the plans for the new elementary that will open in September of 1986 in the Meadowcreek area, Dr. Sidney Poynter, superintendent; Mr. Don Daniel, Mr. Jerry Cox and Mr. Dan Allie have mixed emotions about the rapid growth in the Crowley ISD.

(left) Dr. Sidney Poynter, superintendent of the Crowley ISD, completes twenty-one years with the school system.

Faculty

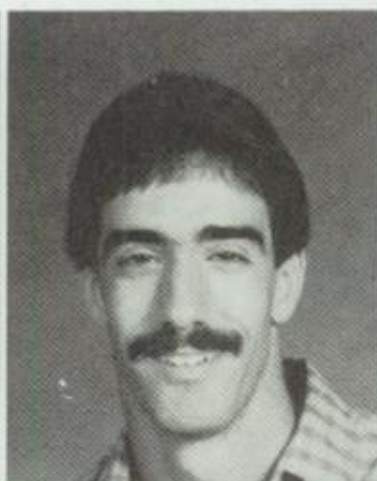

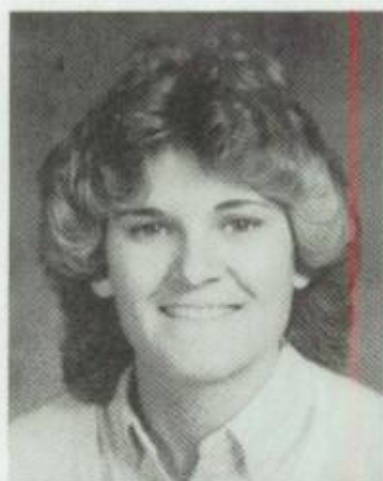

Did Crowley High School have the best teachers in the country? You bet! They came in all shapes, sizes, and personalities. Some enjoyed teaching, others loved getting to know the students. You really could learn a lot from these teachers, but that's not all. Friendship, though not usually associated with the word "teacher," was a very strong feeling here at CHS.

The teachers here were very understanding, caring, and concerned for their students' education, health, and mental well being. Often, you could find these men and women spending long hours giving students extra help and making sure the point was understood. Whatever good feelings were associated with our school, the teachers made possible.

They filled out a survey answering questions such as their favorite radio station, television program, and sports. The answer to these questions can be found under each teacher's name. Find your favorites and enjoy!

Counselors' office stays busy

Somewhat like a beehive, the counselors' office hummed with business all year. Besides the never-ending schedule changes, there were tests to be given and analyzed, conferences to attend, colleges to be written, and (most importantly) students who needed the counseling. On the few occasions when the counselors were all out of the office, it seemed the whole school suddenly became lost — the hive was silent.

The custodial care given to the campus was unsurpassed and there seemed to be no problem whose solution lay beyond the staff's capabilities.

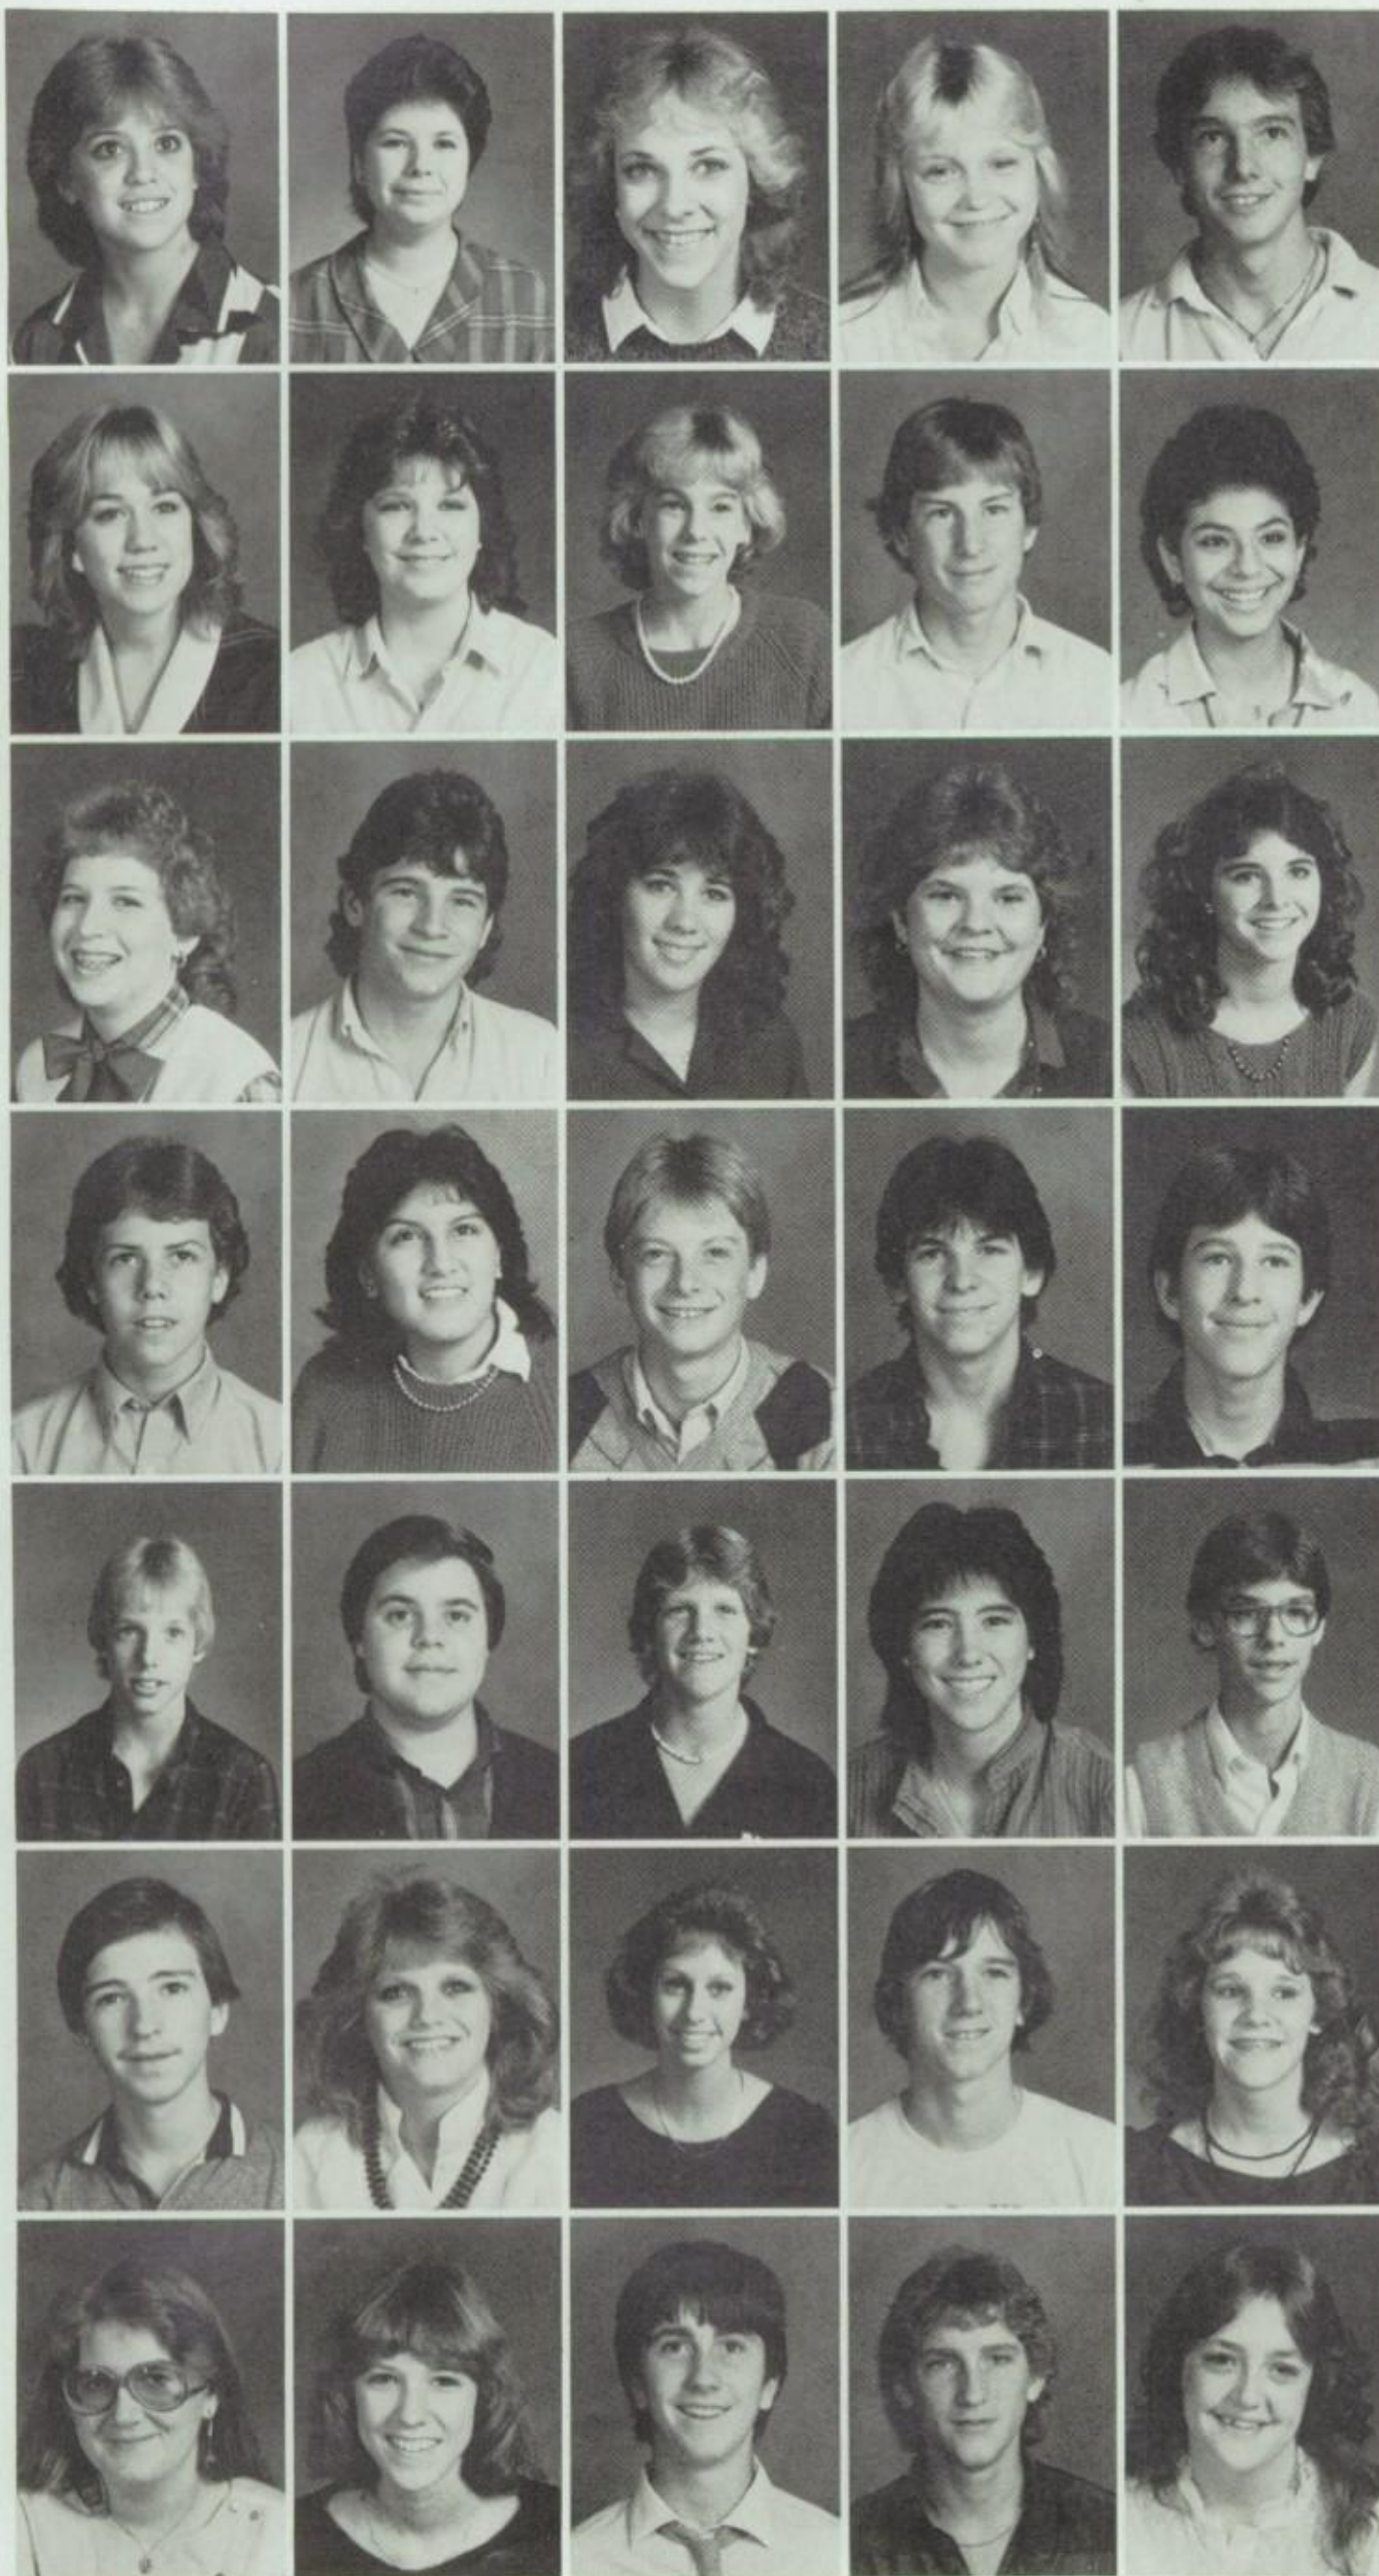

The ladies in white, who try to satisfy the fickle buds on many a youngster's tongue, revealed their favorite television programs in our survey. The most common complaint on their survey was impoliteness on the parts of students and teachers!

FRESHMAN

The freshman class of 1986, the largest in Crowley High School, left other students amazed at the sight of over 300 diminutive fish wandering about the halls. No matter where a group of upperclassmen could be found, at least twice the number of freshmen appeared within moments. At lunchtime and during class they were the noisiest, most happy-go-lucky individuals in the school; they were usually silent and tongue-tied at pep rallies, only confirming their alarming disquiet amidst the enraptured charisma of the remaining student body. Upperclassmen could have chastened these youngsters for their ineptitude and short-sightedness, but it took only a moment to stop and reflect on the way it used to be when they were mere babes in the wild.

enigma — (i-'nig-m) n: Something obscure or hard to understand; puzzling; sophomore class.

"Maybe I shouldn't say this, but the highlight of my day is my sophomore English class. They're basically more mature and sophisticated. I love sophomores! Most aren't silly like some freshmen, cocky like some juniors, or apathetic like some seniors. I have high expectations for the class of '88," said Ms. Mitzi Johnson, English teacher.

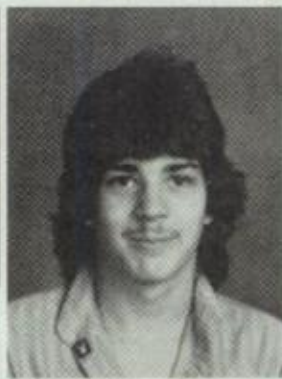

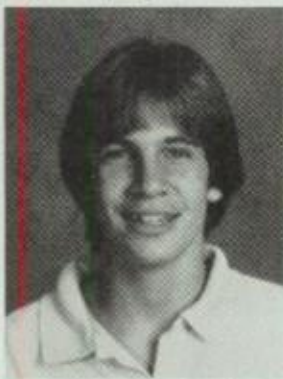

Sophomore Class officers for 1986 are president, Lance Cook; treasurer, Bobby Mosteller; vice-president, Brad McCone; and secretary, Lisa Gray.

WRESTLING

A New Found Trend

A most entertaining(?) sport, wrestling, has picked up speed. People of all ages enjoy watching wrestling on television or even in person.

Sophomore Laurie Doyle has had a strong interest in wrestling since the age of thirteen. She began watching it on television and soon after started going to the matches. "I like going to the wrestling matches. It gives me a break from my homework and it's lots of fun," Laurie says. Laurie now works at the wrestling matches on Mondays at Will Rodgers Colliseum, and at the spectacles held at Tarrant County Convention Center. "I enjoy working at the matches. It gives me a sense of authority and besides, I get to see the matches for free."

David Lee threatens to paddle Jim O'Brien who shows off his shirt that displays the Chicago Bears win over the Dallas Cowboys, 44-0.

The junior class of '86 experienced many different things this year. As they have for their last two years in high school, they showed an extreme amount of spirit. During Homecoming Week the juniors won the hall-decorating contest along with the spirit stick. Many more spirit sticks were won throughout the rest of the football season in the pep rallies.

The juniors raised money for the junior-senior prom in May by selling magazine orders and gifts from a booklet with a wide variety of gifts to choose from.

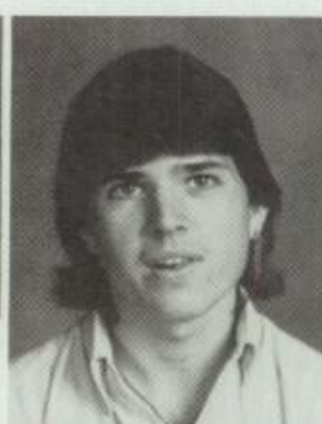

As most juniors before, their enthusiasm, seen not only in their actions, but their eyes as well, marks their expectancy of seniorhood. "Senioritis" takes over and sometimes dims that spirit in May.

Waiting for the pep rally to start, some of the 250+ juniors display their signs proudly during the spirited homecoming week.

Junior Kristin Tapleshay and senior, Kristin Savage move to the beat at the Homecoming Dance, sponsored by Student Council and held in the school cafeteria.

Juniors, Juniors Umph-Ah . . . The junior class of '87, once again makes the news at the Cleburne versus Crowley pep rally, as Todd Royal, Chris Carr, Kelly Koterba, and Treisha Davidson attest.

So proudly
we hail!

There was a time in this country when the things we made, we made by hand. Skilled craftsmen who cared about the work they did took the time to do the job right. And every object they made was stamped with pride.

That spirit of endeavor is not lost today. You'll find it in Americans from coast to coast - men and women who still care enough to do their best. From artist to accountant, farmer to factory worker, Americans can be proud of the work they're doing. Just as they can be proud of the country that work has built.

We are proud of America and the opportunities offered to any person who is willing to set his or her goal and contend to reach them.

We are proud of the many, many fine young adults we have worked with during this school term. Our sincerest wish is for your future happiness, health and prosperity. We have great confidence in you!

The Year Crowley

The year Crowley ... This was Crowley's year. We succeeded and failed, achieved and fell short. We raised our heads in pride and held them down in sadness. Through it all, though, we remained the most spirited and positive group of students ever known to the school. We were the best of all. This was our year.

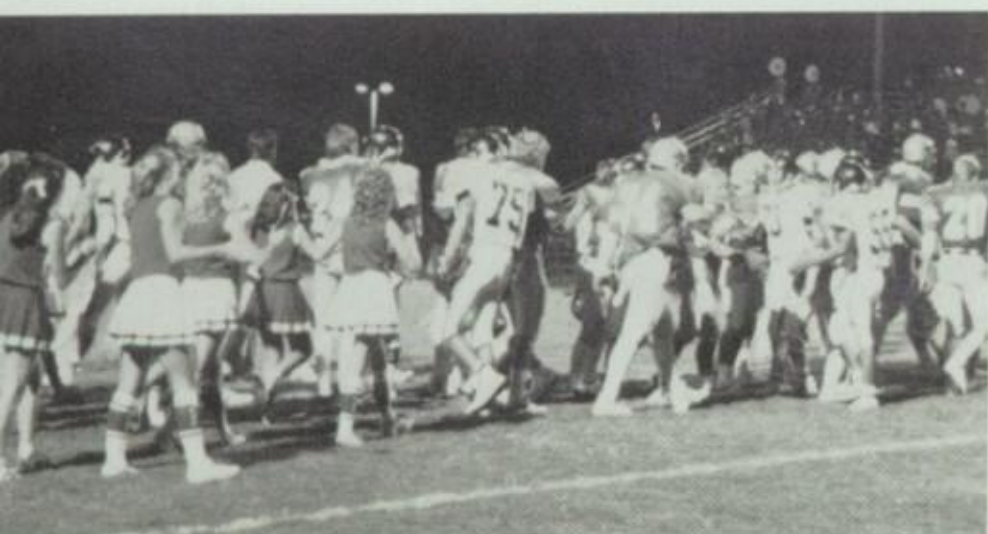

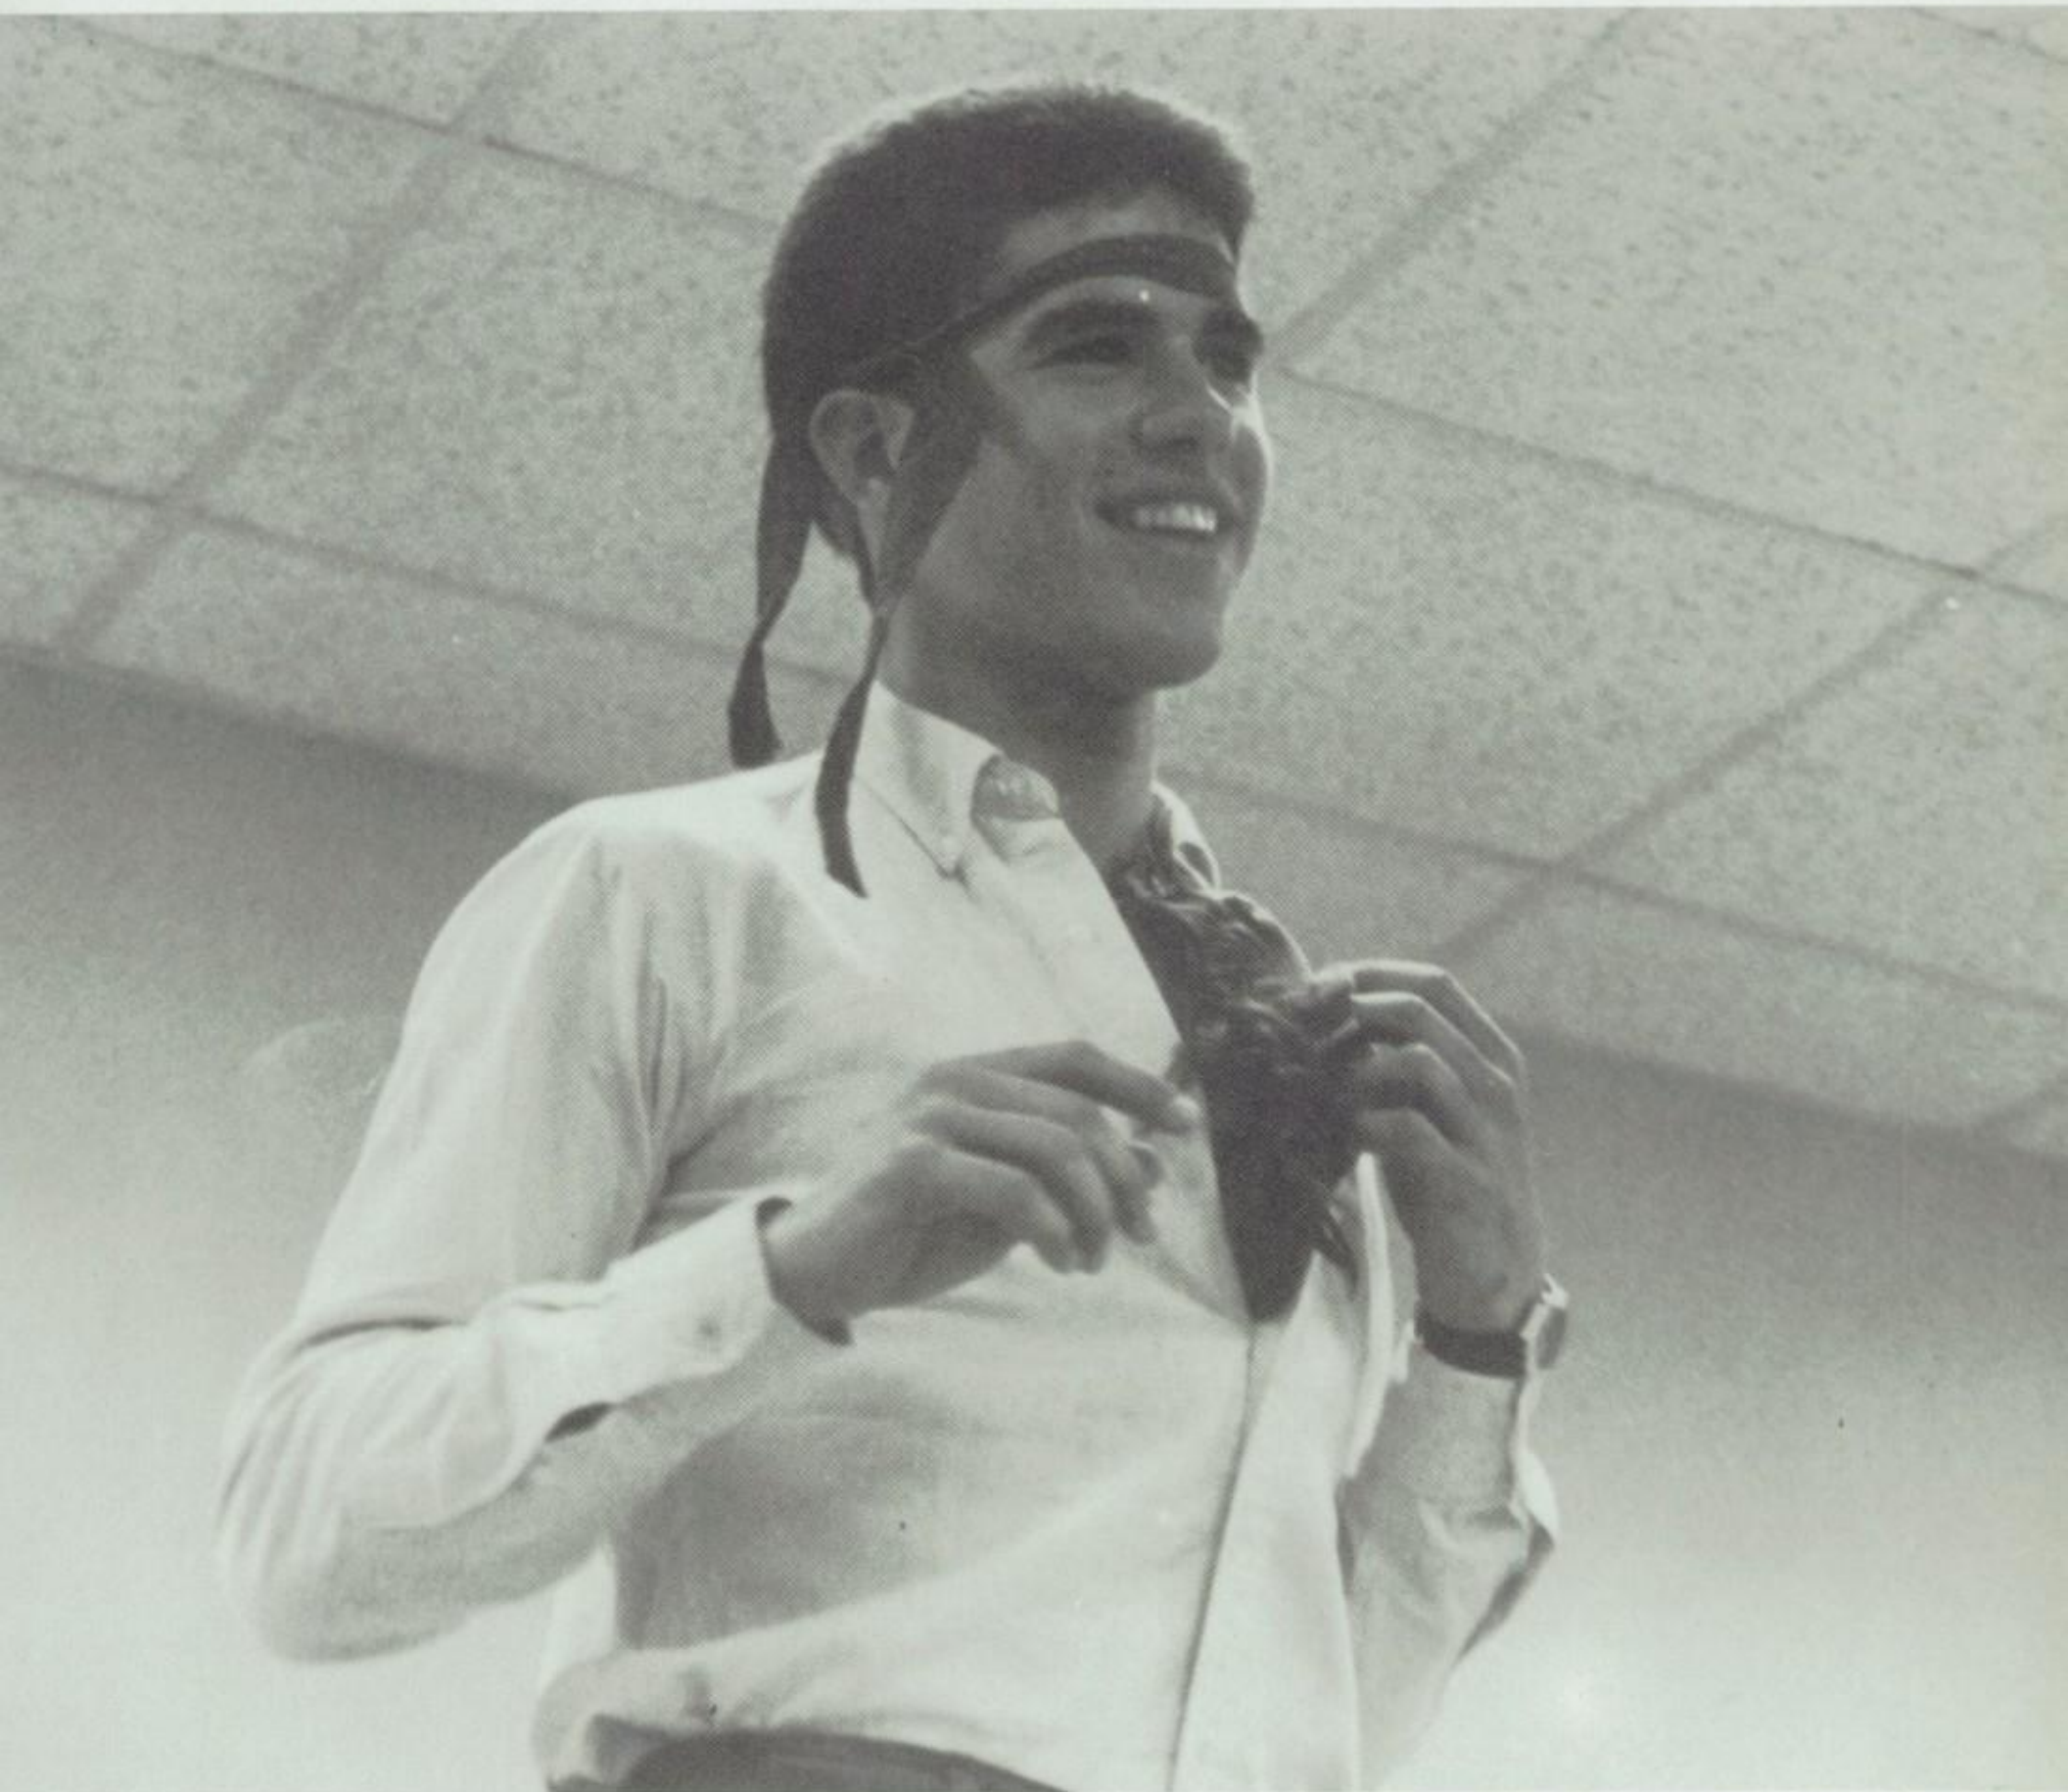

Not this time! The varsity cheerleaders raise the spirits of the student body during the Brownwood pep rally. Brownwood went on to win, giving their coach his 400 career win.

Tickle those ivories. Ms. Carol Glenn, computer science, plays some mood music as the students enter the auditorium for awards. Unknown to most, she regularly plays for most school functions, such as graduation, UIL competition, and awards day. Also unknown to many, her major is music as well as math, and she is working on certification in computer science. She also sang in the Fort Worth opera this year.

Break time. Gerardo Garcia and Sharon Pair, seniors, take some time out for music outside the cheetah cage at Fossil Rim Ranch. AP Biology took a field trip to the fascinating area just west of Crowley near Glen Rose.

Hi guys. Junior Todd Royal portrays "Sweet-bo" in a parody on this year's popular Rambo character during the speech classes' annual spring talent show.

Victory celebration! The Eagle football team consoles the Aledo team after a resounding 33-0 Crowley homecoming win.

It's bright in here! Thell White, Bobby Thornhill, Missy Story, Greg Clark, Clint Harwell, and Tanya Jones sport their shades on sunglasses day, sponsored by the Student Council.

Let me through, please! Sophomore John Crouch makes his way back to his seat after taking a potty break on the bus to Florida during the band trip to compete at Disney World.

Here comes Santa Claus? Senior Curtis Sheldon gives a new meaning to Christmas spirit on Halloween.

Base hit! Junior Kevin New strikes at the ball during the third of the Grapevine versus Crowley games for area title. Crowley won the game and title 11-0 in the face of an impending storm.

Jamming in Orlando. Before leaving for a day at Disney World, the stage band rehearses for contest in the hotel parking lot.

I'm going, I'm going! Senior Helen Sulak commands junior David Lee to run an errand for her at the Student Council conference as Freshmen Leslee Clark and Nikki Daniel laugh at his subservience.

Nap time. Brian Wenberg and Danny Trujillo, two varsity track members, take a much deserved rest during a track meet.

COLOPHON

The 1986 Talon was printed using the offset lithography process by the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Tex. Mr. David Dixon was our company representative.

Approximately 3500 frames of Kodak Tri-X Pan Black and White film and 300 frames of Kodak Kodacolor VR film were shot by student photographers for use in the Talon. Senior portraits, awards day, homecoming, and graduation photographs were taken by photographers from Marcel's Studio of Fort Worth, Tex. Prom photographs were taken by Lifetouch Studios. Underclassman photos were taken by Delmar Studios. Black and white film was processed and prints made by Talon staff photographers Jeff Bivens, Stephen Blandino, David Dischert, Leah Ough and Laurie Doyle. Color processing and prints were done by Flash Foto of Fort Worth. Some photographs were also supplied by Jeff Pohoreske and The Crowley Eagle newspaper.

All body copy was set in 10-point Optima type. All picture captions were set in 8-point Optima. Headlines were set in 30-point Optima and page numbers were set in 8-point Optima. Other decorative type styles were used for special titles.

The cover was designed by Editor Chris Fowler. Art teacher, Mr. Jim Mitchell, designed the title art and Brian Johnston took the photograph using Kodachrome ASA 25 slide film which was processed by Flash Foto. The final 4x6 print was also done by Flash Foto. The cover was printed in full color with process yellow and process black being used for the artwork.

The book was printed on 70-pound enamel paper. The press run was 600.

All copy in the book was written by staff members.

Grateful acknowledgement is given to Mrs. Ruth Fowler, Community Education Secretary, for helping with sales record keeping.

Cindy I really don't know you much!
But from what I know you're pretty cool. Stay that way.

Cindy,

Damn glad I have you for math again.
Because this means I have someone to talk to during class. Besides this class being totally boring at least I have someone like you to talk to. Stay as sweet as a pie.

Cindy,

Ya know Cindy we've had some good times and ~~bad~~ bad times, and the good times that we have had were a Blast! I just want you to know we will ~~never~~ never end up being enemies for as long as you keep your mouth shut! Now I'm just kiddin' with ya - nothing would ever break ~~us up~~ our friendship up. Not even gup, cause I got my guy. From the way things look we will be together for a long time. His mom told him to never do me wrong. But, I think it will work out. His mom also told me that he don't take any calls from any girls. Speaking of gup - someone you know is on with you again. His initials are Kent Cagle or (Cagle) I don't know - One... He wants to know if you still like him. He's in my 1st period class.

You have done alot for me and I appreciate every bit of it. I love you - you've been my friend for about 4 years - something like that (ever since 5th grade), I didn't know you for half my 3rd grade year. But I did for most of it. Anyway, I want to spend the night over at your ~~house~~ house real soon or you over mine. Well if I had another page I would write a book. ~~Since~~ Since I don't have an annual - just write me a letter! See ya on Wednesday!! Love, Kelley

you a good friend
Hope we can be as good as use to be.
Glad to see you
in 10th & with the
